Scores 'Arrest For Revenue'

CITY BUDGET PROVISION OPPOSED

Lyman P. Clark Suggests Council Remove Necessity to Collect Fines

Elimination of that provision in the city budget designed to raise a portion of the revenues from fines assessed against violators of the city ordinances and state laws is advocated by Lyman P. Clark, president of the Glendale Automobile Dealers' association.

"If the City Council," says Mr. Clark, "would eliminate this quota of the budget assigned to the police department it would go a long way toward correcting the feeling of the public against what they believe to be the pernicious activity of that department, in order to collect sufficient fines to meet the budget."

"There is no question about the efficiency of the police department or of the honesty of purpose of Judge F. H. Lowe. The fault lies with the City Council in ever having imposed that budget on the police department. Let us not handicap the police department by obligating them any further to maintain their quota of the budget."

Collect from Peddlers Mr. Clark suggests that, in the event this provision in the budget were removed, a certain amount of the money could be raised by the imposition of a license fee on the numerous peddlers who come here and compete with the Glendale merchants. "There will always be a certain amount of money derived from fines," he says, "but a course such as I suggest would relieve the police of that particular obligation."

"The automobile owners and dealers of Glendale are with the police in their efforts to eliminate careless and reckless drivers from our streets, but requiring the police department to produce a stipulated amount of fines will only continue to antagonize the public and prevent that co-operation that the police department should have from the public."

"The fundamental function of the police department is to protect life and property—and the automobile driver is not a criminal, and should not be treated as such. Most infractions of the traffic regulations are due to carelessness and are made without any intent to destroy either life or property."

"Eventually every motor car owner will be compelled by law to carry liability and property damage insurance. The premium on that insurance will be based on the amount of the claims that are paid by the insurance companies, and the careless and reckless driver will find it prohibitive to own an automobile."

Urges Clubs to Act Mr. Clark favors the adoption of all the service clubs of Glendale of resolutions urging the repeal of the provision in the budget that calls for the raising of revenues from police court fines and the presentation of such resolutions to the City Council, backed by the evidence of strong popular support.

As told in yesterday's Glendale Evening News, Councilman C. E. Kimlin, at yesterday's City Council meeting, made a motion to the effect that "this council recommend to the police department that all traffic officers at all times remain in plain sight on the street being patrolled; and that no recommendation be made by the council to the police court regarding the method of punishing persons guilty of infractions of the California vehicle act."

Arrest for Revenue Councilman S. S. Gilhuly led the opposition to the motion, saying that the move would not meet with the approval of the majority of the people of Glendale. As there was no second to the motion, it was lost. Councilman Sam Davis was not present, being absent from the city. It is stated that members of the City Council urged Councilman Kimlin not to present the motion, but he took the view that the present "arrest for revenue" system is wrong and intends to do his part in changing it.

Remove Restrictions On Week-End Use Of Power

All restrictions against the use of light and power on every Saturday and Sunday are entirely removed, this morning announced Peter Diederich, superintendent of plant and production for the city of Glendale. This means that street lights, electric signs, lights in houses and elsewhere may burn at full capacity during those two days, and that industrial plants may use as much power as they need, over the week-end.

In making this announcement, which is official, Mr. Diederich makes plain that the lift in restrictions applies only to Saturday and Sunday. Conservation will remain in effect during the balance of the week.

"It is owing to the fact that the steam plants of the Southern California Edison company can now carry the load on Saturdays and Sundays, without drawing on water from Huntington Lake, that this lift is possible," Mr. Diederich states. "This will put the city back to normal over the week-ends."

RAIN DELAYS FLIGHT OF YANKEES

Unfavorable Weather Causes World Tour Aviators to Postpone Hop-Off

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1.—Secretary of War Weeks will return to Washington Monday and then will definitely decide if the round-the-world flight of army aviators is to end at Santa Monica, where it started, according to word received here today.

Los Angeles residents who protested ending the flight at Seattle have been assured the world trip will have its close in Southern California.

Weather Delays Flight ON BOARD U. S. DESTROYER, RICHMOND, HOUTON BAY, OFF SCOTLAND, Aug. 1.—(By Radio to International News Service)—Rain and fog today compelled the United States army "round-the-world" aviators to postpone their hop off from the Orkneys to Iceland until tomorrow.

The United States destroyer Reid, which is patrolling half way between the Scottish coast and Iceland, a crucial point in the flight, reported early this afternoon that it was possible to see only a half mile, owing to mist and rain.

Decides to Wait Lieutenant Lowell Smith, commander of the flight, then decided to wait until tomorrow.

Lieutenant-Commander Leigh-ton, aerial officer of the flagship, Richmond, of the flotilla guard, said conditions were no worse than yesterday, but were bad enough to warrant further delay.

The Evening News Leads In Advertising Field In Glendale

Again The Evening News shows its superior business-getting power in Glendale during the month of July by leading over all other publications in Glendale in display, classified and legal advertising. The Evening News also leads in Automobile advertising in the month of July by 13 per cent.

The lead over the Los Angeles Express insert, locally known as the Daily Press, is:

Classified	72 per cent
Display	19 per cent
Legal (other than City Printing)	661 per cent
Total Average (Not including City Printing)	30 per cent

The above report, coupled with the fact that the circulation of The Evening News in Glendale leads any other publication by 30 per cent, explains why so many merchants select this paper as their advertising medium. Business-getting results are what count.

Persons interested in placing display or classified advertising for themselves or for their friends are requested to keep this report on file for reference.

COURT ORDER IS VICTORY TO SHOW

Tent Theatre Starts Legal Battle to Gain Right Of Playing Here

Murphy's Comedians this morning obtained a writ of review and a restraining order, signed by Judge Willis of the Superior court, ordering that the revocation of their license to operate a tent theatre on Stocker street, Casa Verdugo, be suspended until the courts can decide whether or not the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles county was justified in ordering them to close their show.

This means that Murphy's Comedians will give nightly performances until further notice, states J. A. Menard, house manager.

Cancel License

The tent show first gave performances in this city on North Brand boulevard. But "pressure," it is claimed, was brought to bear on city officials and the show's license was not continued. The show then moved to Casa Verdugo, in the county and just outside the Glendale city limits. The supervisors issued a license good until October 1. But "pressure," it is claimed, was brought to bear on the supervisors and the board revoked the license, claiming the tent show was a nuisance. The show was to close last night. But the court action today will permit it to continue.

H. W. Wright, supervisor in the fifth district, which includes the city of Glendale, voted with the rest of the board to cancel the license.

Show to Continue

The writ of review and restraining order were obtained through the efforts of J. M. Blankenship and John Everson, local attorneys, representing Murphy's Comedians. The writ of review is returnable August 6, according to Mr. Everson, who filed the papers. Until that date at least there will be no way of preventing the comedians from

City Comptroller Shows Bonding Capacity of City And Present Indebtedness

The proposed bonds for civic improvements, recommended by the members of the Citizens' Bond committee, and totaling $1,705,973, would leave a bonding capacity of only $223,396 for the city if the bonds were voted before the new valuation is received, according to figures furnished The Glendale Evening News today by H. C. Saulsberry, city comptroller.

There is the smallest possibility of such a situation arising, Mr. Saulsberry pointed out, as the new valuation will be fixed within the next ten days and a bond election could not be called at that time. The new valuation would give the city a bonding capacity of approximately $6,000,000 as compared to $4,513,869 at the present time, Mr. Saulsberry said. Based on the new valuation, the remaining bonding capacity of the city, should all the bonds proposed by the Citizens' Bond committee carry, would be $1,709,527.

Below are given two tables, the first showing the action of the Citizens' Bond committee on the ten projects outlined by City Manager Stone, and the second bond figures as quoted by City Comptroller Saulsberry. The first column of figures in the first table represent the amounts suggested by the various sub-committees, while the second column of figures represent the amount recommended by the committee as a whole last night:

The report of the sub-committee on bridges over Verdugo wash, which was filed with the committee as a whole on July 23, 1924, recommended $3,000 as the amount necessary to repair the bridges. This report was made with a provision to revise after more detailed investigation and last night the members of the sub-committee gave

Close Deer Regions To Halt Fire Menace Must Affix Enough Postage to Packages

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1.—The now historic bitter grief experienced by Mudville when Casey flivvered at the bat was as nothing to the pangs California's nimrods were being gripped with today as the deer hunting season officially opened. Thousands of hunters were all set today to bag the limit when hard-hearted officials announced that because of the fire menace choice hunting areas in nineteen California counties would be closed indefinitely. The limit this year is two bucks, each of which must have two forked horns. All other deer are protected at all times. Total number of deer in California is estimated today by game officials at approximately 400,000. The average bag of California hunters is around 20,000, and mountain lions are said to kill an equal number.

Persons who mail parcels through the Glendale postoffice are warned by Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson to see that sufficient postage is affixed, so that delay in delivery may be obviated. Mailing clerks have been instructed to weigh packages carefully, and all that are short of the required amount will be held for complete prepayment before being dispatched.

CITIZENS' COMMITTEE AT FINAL MEETING SUBMITS IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM

Ten Propositions Will Be Placed On Ballot, If City Council Follows Suggestions; Opposition To Civic Center Plan

The members of the City Council will put ten propositions on the ballot at a special bond issue election, totaling $1,705,973 for civic improvements and additions, if the councilmen act favorably on recommendations made last night by the members of the Citizens' Bond committee, at the final meeting of the committee held in the auditorium of the Harvard High school.

Two of the ten propositions submitted to the Citizens' Bond committee by City Manager Stone, were rejected by the committee as a whole. These items were an auxiliary power plant and the founding of a municipal hospital. Two of the eight remaining projects—water systems and supply, and city park sites—were divided, so that ten propositions will be on the ballot.

Final Suggestions The proposition, carrying their original number, the names of the members of the sub-committees making the investigation and subsequent report, the recommendations of these sub-committees, and the final action of the committee as a whole, follow:

1. Additional fire stations and equipment. W. L. Twining, chairman, A. R. Eastman and Owen C. Emery recommended bond issue of $60,000. Committee as a whole approves report and recommends $60,000 bond issue.
2. Modern fire alarm system. Originally combined with Project No. 3, modern police alarm system, one sub-committee reporting on both. P. J. Hayselden, chairman, J. M. Boland and R. Belcher recommended bond issue of $63,429 for fire alarm system, which was approved by committee as a whole.
3. Modern police alarm system. Same sub-committee recommended bond issue of $36,294 for police alarm system, the projects to be segregated on ballot. Committee as a whole approves recommendation.
4. Civic center and city hall expansion. Alexander Mitchell, chairman, H. M. Butts and Peter Hanson recommended a bond issue of $650,000, and this report was approved and recommendation passed on to City Council by the committee as a whole.
5. Bridges over Verdugo wash. O. M. Newby, chairman, Rev. E. E. Ford and I. J. Hoover were members of the sub-committee. The first report suggested no action as permanent plans for wash were not complete. Second report suggested bond issue of $3000 for repairing bridges now in use, this report being subject to revision. Last night the sub-committee recommended a bond issue of $12,750, which was approved by the committee as a whole.
6. Enlarging water system and supply. This project divided at suggestion of sub-committee members, Charles Marshall, chairman, William E. Pelley and W. H. Richards. (a) Recommends $550,000 bond issue for new mains and reservoirs; (b) recommends $135,000 bond issue for buying water-bearing land. First part of report approved, but bond issue for water-bearing land cut down to $126,000 by committee as a whole.
7. Auxiliary power plant for Glendale. Roy L. Kent, chairman, J. H. Randall and Lyman P.

Clark recommended no municipal plant at this time, and this report was accepted by committee as a whole, leaving no bond issue for this project.

For City Parks

8. Acquisition of city parks. Members of sub-committee were L. H. Wilson, chairman, R. Streit and Mrs. C. H. Whitney. A majority report, signed by Mr. Wilson and Mrs. Whitney, and a minority report, signed by Mr. Streit, were submitted, the majority report recommending two issues, one of $122,500 for a 35-acre tract in Rossmore and another of $35,000 for a park in the south part of the city. The minority report opposed the issues. The committee as a whole adopted the majority report and recommended to the City Council two bond issues on this project, one for $122,500 and one for $35,000.

Modern disposal of garbage.

9. H. M. Bennett, chairman, R. M. Brown and W. A. Hall recommended a bond issue of $50,000 for installation of incinerator plant of dry type. Committee as a whole approved report.

Founding a municipal hospital.

10. Dr. Floyd Thompson, chairman, Mrs. J. M. Woolsey and Frank Hoopes recommended no bond issue for this project at the present time, and the report was accepted by the committee as a whole.

Bond Issue Total

The total amount of the bond issues recommended to the City Council by the committee as a whole, following the action last night, reaches $1,705,973. The figures following the first recommendation on of the sub-committees reached $1,705,223, but when the sub-committee mentioned in their report from $3000 to $12,750, the amount went to $1,714,973. The committee as a whole cut off $9000 from Project 6-B, bringing

OAKMONT LOUNGE PICTURES SHOWN

'House Beautiful' Carries
Illustration of Club in August Issue

LA CRESCENTA, Aug. 1.—The beautiful lounge in the Oakmont Country club is shown in the August issue of the "House Beautiful" in a half page picture which makes the room appear larger than it really is. However, club members are getting great pleasure out of the fact that Oakmont was chosen to illustrate even an advertising page of such a magazine.

People of La Crescenta valley are rejoicing in the fact that the Glendale Union High school trustees have recommended that the future great high school district in the valley be taken care of by purchasing a suitable site whereon to erect an adequate school building. There are a great number of students now who are attending the Glendale schools spending much time in traveling to and from school, and some of the parents have been arrested going through Verdugo Woodlands trying to reach the schools in time so the young people need not be marked tardy. Therefore, a high school building in the La Crescenta valley would solve the question in the proper manner.

Plan Picnic, Dance
Mark Collins, R. Q. MacDonald and Fred Anderson, subdividers and owners of Highway Highlands, are planning a picnic for the residents of the tract, of whom there are over sixty families. This picnic dance will be held in the Laura Lee store building, which is now being erected, on Saturday, August 16.

Monte Vista park in Sunland, with its beautiful grove of old oak trees, has been chosen by the brotherhood of the La Crescenta Community church as a suitable place in which to hold their annual picnic on August 15. The brotherhood has also invited the church members and their families, and the Sunday school members to bring their picnic baskets and join them.

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Thomas entertained at dinner the following guests: Dr. and Mrs. Mateson, Professor Winn and Mr. and Mrs. McBride of New Orleans, and Dr. and Mrs. Boughton of New York and La Crescenta.

COMMENT That's All

Friendship Lacking
Welcome Strangers
Another Big Month
New Bridges Needed

By Gil A. Cowan

Every day there comes to Glendale a stranger, not one but many perhaps.

He comes into our midst at our earnest invitation to make his home here.

He has been a man of affairs, no doubt, in the community where he formerly resided.

He has seen life and knows people; he has hopes and ambitions; he has a family that aspires socially or intellectually; he has money—just about everything the world has to offer, but—

In Glendale of late there has not been in evidence that friendly feeling which made this city what it is. There is not that boon companionship among the people of the community. There is not that understanding among business men and graciousness which formerly marked the advent of the stranger in our midst.

Now it is not that we want them to understand they are unwanted. For thousands of dollars are being spent to bring people here. And it is not that we want them to hold aloof from clubs and churches and cliques, for in reality they belong no more to one than the other. But we have grown a bit selfish and it is high time confession is made for the good of the soul.

It is not The Glendale Evening News or the writer or you, dear reader, that is selfish, but it is the city as a whole. In brief, for a small city we have become too well organized to admit the stranger without the password.

Very well for the cliques to form, but it narrows the perspective of their individual members. It holds them aloof and they glory in their exclusiveness just as the "club" reporter glories in making a scoop or a young financier takes pride in making a "killing" on the market.

What is needed in Glendale today is a reception committee to learn all about the strangers in our midst, to get them in touch with the churches, the social organizations, the business.

It is a fact that the Merchants' association endeavors to learn if the stranger will be a liability, rather than an asset to its members. But no one goes out of their way to learn just how much of an asset each newcomer will be to the civic life of the community.

There's need for reform. Glendale has another million dollar month to its credit this past July in building department records. And the usually quiet summer month turned out to be a record-maker for the year so far.

With the wonderful speed attained by "The fastest growing city in America" there is no reason why every month's building should not be greater than that which has gone before.

The "filling" process in Glendale has just begun. Vacant lots are being built upon with utmost rapidity to meet the coming demand for homes this fall and winter.

Sufficient storerooms for mercantile enterprises will be available and apartment houses are most popular with the construction men.

There is just one fly in the ointment, as the saying goes. That is a matter of additional transportation facilities into Los Angeles.

Due to the power shortage the Pacific Electric has seen fit to cut the schedule during the daytime from 15 minutes to 20 minutes. And, while these few minutes do not make a great deal of difference, perhaps, they have increased the motor travel to the city, the writer believes.

With the increased number of automobiles using Glendale boulevard the insufficiency of the bridges across Los Angeles river at Ivanhoe becomes more and more apparent.

Glendale cannot afford to let itself be choked for lack of arteries to handle the traffic. Not only should a track highway be built, but a wider Glendale boulevard should be fostered by those who have influence with Los Angeles powers that be.

Speaking of a truck highway—as that planned to parallel the San Fernando road and Riverside drive—there is every need for it.

It has come to such a pass that Glendale boulevard is being ground to pieces under the heavy sand and gravel and clay trucks. Also, traffic is hampered and endangered by these big machines on the narrow roadway.

All speed to the widening and improving of San Fernando road and the building of a parallel truck highway.

MONTROSE, Aug. 1.—The Harding home was the scene of an attractive gathering of young people who were present to honor the sixteenth birthday of Miss Helen Harding. Twenty-two guests enjoyed the various games, music and dancing provided for their entertainment.

An irritable horse that he was shoeing caused S. R. Parsons a compound fracture of his arm, the horse having struck him with its foreleg.

The Montrose picture theatre is rapidly being completed and it is expected will be open some time in September. This is the first theatre building in the valley and will fill a long felt need.

China expects bumper crops this year.

Church Guild Lauded In Minister's Letter

LA CRESCENTA, Aug. 1.—Mrs. Mary B. Darrow, president of the Woman's Guild of the church of St. Luke of the Mounts, has received a splendid letter of congratulation from Rev. Dr. Renison, pastor of the Mission district, in the great work accomplished in this district by the members of the guild.

Dr. Renison stated in his letter that he was of the opinion the building of the church had advanced so rapidly on account of the interest the guild workers had taken in seeing a church on the property given for that purpose. The building now has the roof on and the remainder of the work is going forward rapidly.

The regular Sunday meeting of the Glendale Art association has been cancelled on account of the absence of so many officers and members from the city, according to an announcement by Mrs. James S. Armstrong, the secretary.

The next meeting will be held in the Glendale Public Library on the night of Friday, August 15, at 8 o'clock, when a prominent authority on art will be brought here to deliver an address to the members.

Judge Lowe to Spend Week-end at Catalina

Judge and Mrs. Frank H. Lowe and their grandson, Jim Lowe, of 310 Patterson avenue, left for Catalina island yesterday afternoon, where they will spend the week-end.

Judge Lowe was formerly secretary-treasurer of the Banning interests, from whom William Wrigley bought the island, and spent much time there some years ago.

Brilliant Throng Sees Eloise G. Francy Wedded At Ceremony In Church

Prominent among social events of mid-summer, was the marriage last night, Thursday, July 31, 1924, of Miss Eloise G. Francy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Francy of 136 North Kenwood street, to Lester L. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Johnson of Siskiyou county.

The First Methodist church on North Kenwood street and East Wilson avenue, was chosen by Miss Francy and Mr. Johnson as the place of their wedding, and hosts of their friends filled the auditorium for the service, at which Dr. H. I. Rasmus, pastor of the church, officiated.

Potted plants and fern, with beautiful summer blossoms were used in decorations at the church.

Wedding Music
 Mrs. T. W. Randall, organist of the church, presided at the organ, playing the accompaniment for Miss Gladys White, who sang "At Dawning" (Cadmian) and "I Love You Truly" (Bond).

During the ceremony Miss Genevieve Mulligan, violinist, accompanied by Miss White at the piano, played softly "I Love You Truly."

Miss Francy's four bridesmaids entered the church as the Lohengrin march was played by Mrs. Randall. They were Miss Francy's cousin, Miss Maude Francy, and Misses Evelyn Ashman, Bertha Williams and Helen Stanley.

Miss Maude Francy and Miss Ashman wore gowns of orchid taffeta and gold lace with gold bands about their hair. Each carried an arm arrangement of white sweet-peas. Misses Williams and Stanley wore gowns of pale green georgette crepe over taffeta, with gold bands about their hair.

Miss Roma Staub, niece of the bride, who was maid of honor, was gown in orchid georgette combined with cream lace. She carried pink rosebuds.

Scattering the bride's pathway with rose petals was little Ruth Herman, frocked in orchid organza, carrying a basket tied with a big tulle bow to match her dress.

The ushers were George Stanley, Dean Williams, Mark Francy and Edward Moniot.

Harry Francy, brother of the bride, was best man.

Miss Francy's bridal dress was of white satin backed Canton crepe, made on becoming long lines, with corsage of silver flowers; her bouquet was of white bride's roses.

From the church the bridal party went to the Francy home for a reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are to reside at 645 West California avenue in a new bungalow home. Both young people have many friends in Glendale. Mrs. Johnson, who came with her family to Glendale fourteen years ago from Iowa is a graduate from the Glendale Union High school. Later she took a course in library work at the Glendale public library. During the past year she has been assistant in the offices of Dr. F. R. Gartley and Dr. C. M. Conklin.

Mr. Johnson lived in Northern California until three years ago, when he came to Glendale. He is a world war veteran, having seen twenty months' service in the aerial branch of the U. S. army. Of this twenty months he spent fifteen months overseas.

DISTRICT CHIEF AT I. O. O. F. MEET

Work of Order Exemplified
At Special Session of Glendale Lodge

Following the regular business meeting of the Glendale I. O. O. F. lodge No. 388 at the Odd Fellows' hall, 201-A West Broadway, last night, District Deputy Grand Master Carl E. Wilde of Van Nuys assumed charge of the proceedings and conducted a district meeting that was filled with interest to all members present.

Assisting Mr. Wilde were District Grand Warden C. A. Palmer as right supporter, and Past District Deputy Grand Master C. W. Stearns as left supporter. Mr. Palmer later gave an inspiring talk on the principles of Odd Fellowship.

The unwritten work and the signs were exemplified by the San Fernando lodge delegation; Past Grand Malcom spoke in the initiation degree, and the Van Nuys contingent staged a drama exemplifying other important work in the order.

Lodges Growing
 Reports on the lodges in this district showed that all of them are in a prosperous condition. Glendale reporting 128 members and eight new applicants to be admitted. Burbank lodge has 83 members; San Fernando, 129; Van Nuys, 157; Lancaster, 104; and all of them have numerous prospective members to be admitted in the immediate future.

The Old Folks' home at Saratoga, maintained by the Odd Fellows, now has 192 inmates, it was stated.

During the evening entertainment was furnished by the Misses Marguerite and Constance, daughters of Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Steeling, who danced and gave a boxing exhibition; Miss Eleanor Marek, 207 West Garfield street, who gave two fancy dances; and by Miss Florence Stevens, the daughter of Past Grand H. T. Stevens, who gave a humorous reading. An elaborate lunch was served at the close of the session.

Visiting Members
 Attending the meeting were delegations from Van Nuys, San Fernando, Burbank, Lancaster lodges and a number of visiting members, besides a strong representation from the Glendale lodge. The Glendale and Van Nuys lodges will resume their Five Hundred competition at Van Nuys next Friday night.

EDMONDS RENEWS OLD FRIENDSHIP

Glendale Pastor Talks Over
Work of Church With Former Colleague

Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor of the Glendale Presbyterian church, had the happiness during the recent synodical meetings, of visiting with his old friend, W. E. Henderson, formerly national secretary of the Gideon society, now retired and living in San Diego. For twenty years Mr. Edmonds and Mr. Henderson were associated together in church work in Illinois.

Mr. Henderson tells some interesting things about the Gideons' work. Placing a Bible in the hands of everyone is the aim of these religious workers. Recently they received 25,000 Bibles in two car loads. They have placed 14,105 Bibles in Los Angeles and 12,000 in San Francisco. Six weeks ago they placed 1500 Bibles in Balboa park, San Diego.

Bibles for Synod
 During the synodical meetings 250 Bibles were placed about the pulpit at the Glendale church, and these books were dedicated yesterday by the moderator.

Mr. Henderson states that following the Gideons' practice of placing a Bible in the room of every hotel, over 100 have been placed in Glendale hotels. At the Grand hotel twenty-one Bibles were placed; at Gray hotel, twenty-two; at Central hotel, twenty-four; at Allen hotel, seven; at Glenary hotel, twenty-five; at Victor hotel, sixteen; in Glendale Sanitarium, 150.

Each Bible has a slip pasted in front with ready reference for different needs.

The Gideons have placed 600,000 Bibles in the United States and Canada.

Cover Wide Field
 Other Bible workers at the synod were Rev. Robert Irwin, secretary of Siam agency for the American Bible society, former member of California synod; and Rev. A. Wesley Niell of San Francisco, secretary of the Pacific agency of the American Bible society.

Mr. Niell reports a big advance in the sale and distribution of the Bible. His work has been in seventy-one languages last year and totaled over 2,500,000 Bibles, testaments and gospels.

The Pacific agency has taken up the work of broadcasting the Scriptures daily from the radio stations.

Glendale Dance Teacher Takes Course Of Study Under European Masters

Glendale patrons and friends of Miss Edith Lindsay, popular teacher of dancing in Glendale and Hollywood, are anticipating welcoming her home from abroad the first week in September.

Miss Lindsay writes of a most profitable and delightful summer trip studying and sightseeing in Europe. While in Paris she has studied with Mlle. Zambelli, Monsieur Aveline and Monsieur Staats, premier dancers and director of the ballet at the "Opera."

After a short period of study with these prominent dancers Miss Lindsay was complimented with the offer of a position as leading dancer in the "Ballet." This is a distinct honor considering the years of tedious study indulged in by aspirants to the "Ballet."

Miss Lindsay is not accepting the offer, preferring to return to her studio in Hollywood and Glendale.

Escaped Convicts Are Captured at Folsom

SACRAMENTO, July 31.—William Aberton, life termer from Los Angeles, and Albert Stewart, sentenced to Folsom prison from Alameda for robbery, whose absence from roll call was noticed last night and resulted in the entire prison force being called out in a search for them, were caught today by James H. ## Monologue Artist Is Back From Convention

Harry James of Glendale, monologist, who is a popular radio artist, returned recently from attending a convention of music companies in San Francisco. While in the northern city Mr. James acted as master of ceremonies at "Brunswick Night" at the convention, and also broadcasted some of his clever monologues over KGO. Returning south he stopped at Carmel by the Sea to visit his mother. On Wednesday night of this week Mr. James entertained the World War Veterans' Masonic club in Los Angeles.

Pendroy's Baby Contest Is Under Way; Entries Being Received; Cast Your Votes!

In The Glendale Evening News yesterday there appeared a large advertisement by Pendroy's, the big department store at Brand and Harvard, in which Mrs. E. C. Pendroy outlined a four-weeks' baby contest, starting July 30 and ending August 20. Everyone will have the opportunity of voting for the most popular baby in Glendale.

Also, Mrs. Pendroy made the announcement that on Thursday, August 21, she invites every baby in Glendale—from the smallest infant in arms, to the little child—to be her honored guest at her regular annual "kiddies' party."

The party will be given in the infants' wear department at Pendroy's store, second floor annex, from 3 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Rules of Contest
 The rules governing the baby contest follow:

Every baby in Glendale from an infant to 2 years old is eligible.

Every purchase made throughout the store—cash or charge—is a vote getter.

Every penny spent in our store is a vote—10c purchase 10 votes, etc.

Deposit your duplicate purchase slips, with name of your favorite baby, in ballot boxes.

Write name of your baby candidate across bottom of sales slips.

Ballots will be counted daily and results posted in our infants' department, second floor annex.

For further information phone Pendroy's, 2380, infants' department.

Enter Baby Now!
 As already stated by The Glendale Evening News, the contest opened July 30 and will close on August 20.

Naturally, every mother having a small child eligible will be anxious to enter her baby in the contest. She may do so by cutting out the advertisement in yesterday's Evening News as directed in the advertisement. It starts the baby off with 1000 votes.

Or, if one has a friend having a baby eligible to enter the contest, it is pointed out that the attention of the parent should at once be called to the contest and the baby entered.

A special feature of the contest will be the pictures to be taken of the babies. As each baby is registered he or she will be sent to the Frank Ostrom studio at 206 East Broadway for pictures to be used for display in the Pendroy windows. Mr. Ostrom has had splendid success with his juvenile pictures, and that he has consented to take the baby pictures assures the mothers of some pleasing work.

Ballots are to be counted daily and results posted in the infants' department, second floor annex of Pendroy's.

Mrs. Pendroy is making elaborate plans for the kiddies' party that will close the contest. On that afternoon three prizes will be awarded to the three most popular babies. The first prize will be a $25 merchandise order in the infants' department; second prize, white enameled high chair; third prize, large, jointed sleeping doll.

In addition to the three prizes offered for the three most popular babies, each child entered in the contest will receive a handsome souvenir.

Guard on Duty as Klan Rioters Appear

HAVERHILL, Mass., July 31.—A heavy guard was on duty when twenty-one participants in the Ku Klux Klan rioting went on trial today before Judge Winn in district court. The other three men arrested are at the Gale hospital under treatment for gunshot wounds inflicted with shotguns loaded with rock salt.

When Judge Winn asked who represented the twenty-one prisoners, John R. Boston, of Ohio, the Klan organizer, who hired the field which was the scene of last night's meeting, stepped forward, smoking a cigar. The court ordered him from the room to dispose of the cigar. The defendants had failed to secure the services of City Solicitor Frederick Magison, although Ex-City Solicitor A. F. Priest did join the Klan's legal forces.

Daily Greeting To News Readers

I AM CONVINCED—
That most people are capable of more good than they realize.
That the meanest man is seldom proud of his distinction.
That a profane man would hardly be willing to be taken at his word.
That to argue about religion is a poor way to demonstrate our piety.
That too many of us listen to a new idea with our prejudices.

SHE MADE ICE CREAM POPULAR

Whatever American politics may come to, her husband, American business, owes a big debt to Dolly Madison. She made ice cream popular and fashionable in the United States and was the sponsor, therefore, of a business which gives employment to thousands and consumes millions of tons of milk, sugar, ice, salt and fruit annually.

So far as the records can be traced, ice cream first was made by an English confectioner in London during the American revolution. It was first introduced to the United States by a Philadelphia caterer named Bosio in 1800, but never became really popular until Mrs. Madison, as mistress of the White House had it served at dinners over which she presided in 1817. Ever since that time, consumption of this dainty has risen until now 2.66 gallons of ice cream are made annually for each inhabitant of this country. In 1923, 294,900,000 gallons of ice cream were manufactured, and, while the number of ice cream cones has not been compiled by government authorities, consumption is conservatively estimated by confectioners at over 300,000,000.

There were 441,000,000 quarts of cream consumed and 176,400,000 pounds of butter fat. Six million pounds of gelatin were used and 205,800,000 pounds of sugar. These figures include only the consumption of materials by ice cream manufacturers. In addition, housewives froze a large amount, requiring approximately a proportionate purchase of materials. From a production of a gallon at a time, concocted in the cellar of the small shop run by Bosio opposite the Spread Eagle hotel in Philadelphia, the output of the city which saw the introduction of this article of almost universal diet has risen to 12,019,891 gallons a year.

While all the year round production in this country is fairly steady, the cold spring curtailed sales to some extent this year. The trade, however, has fully recovered with the advent of warm days and there is every reason to believe, confectioners say, that the annual output of 1924 will exceed that of last year.

TENDENCY TOWARD CLEANER FILMS

Proof that public sentiment is making itself felt is evident in the resolution recently adopted by motion picture producers to "refrain from the production or distribution of pictures, by whomsoever produced, which, because of the unfit character of the story, the exploitation, or the scenes shown on the film itself, do not harmonize with the slogan of the association; and to establish and maintain the highest possible moral and artistic standards of motion picture production."

It will be remembered that promises of this character have been made before. The resolution has a virtuous sound, but there are jokers in it. In the first place the resolution was passed by the association and no member is bound in any way to respect it. Again, the producers themselves are the ones to determine what are "the highest possible moral and artistic standards," and the moral standards of some are not so high as those of others. However, the producers are slowly awakening to the fact that suggestive films, and suggestive titles, do not pay in the end, although they may attract a certain class for a time; and the public welcomes any tendency toward a better class of pictures.

Charlie Chaplin's picture, "A Woman of Paris," was heralded as art with a capital A; one of the greatest dramas ever produced. It was dramatic and it did prove Chaplin a great artist and director, but it was soon forgotten. H. H. Van Loan, celebrated scenario writer, said of this film, "It will never make money because people will not take their children to see it. A great picture is one that every man, woman and child can see without feeling embarrassed." People need not be Pollyannas or prudes to really prefer a good clean, wholesome story to one of the other kind even though the latter may be true to life.

When producers learn what constitutes a clean show and then produce pictures of that character they will find the public ready to meet them half way.

LABOR AND WALL STREET

There is a glaring inconsistency in the fact that officials of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers are supporting for the presidency one whose chief policy is denunciation of Wall Street, while at the same time this Brotherhood has just established a bank, known as the New York Empire Co. (Inc.), which will enter into competition with some of the larger security companies in the financial district of New York. The location of this bank is in the heart of the Wall Street district. One newspaper doubts whether wage earners, if they are induced to invest widely in this bank and in other banks established by union labor in Cleveland, Ohio, and in Boston, will be frightened at the cry of Wall Street with which La Follette is trying to arouse his followers.

Great benefit may result, however, from labor thus launching into the sea of finance. There is bound to be a resulting contact between wage earners and capitalists that will bring about a better understanding between the two and eliminate some of their differences.

The virtues never grow old or out of date. It is just as fashionable today, to be honest, as it was in the days of Abraham or Moses.

Man's most vulnerable spot is his pocketbook. When he has to pay out good money for his negligence he becomes extremely cautious.

Some seek the mountains on account of the altitude; but, according to our experience, sea-level vacations are high enough.

It is estimated that criminality costs this country $10,000,000,000 annually. Another reason for reducing crime to a minimum.

The people want a clean political campaign. They will rebuke any attempt at personal vilification.

The whole country rejoices over the fact that more prosperity is coming to the farmers.

It does no good to put new lining in the brakeband when there's an old one in the hat band.

No brains—no brakes; no brakes—no brains.

SAFETY LAST

The Sea

By DR. FRANK CRANE

I have been much troubled always by the passage of Scripture which says: "There shall be no more sea."

It was explained to me by a Quaker on ship-board who observed that whereas in former times the sea had been the barrier it had now become the common carrier of nations.

Time was when the crossing of the sea was a perilous event, one to be undertaken only by the more adventurous portion of the population; for this reason every nation was more or less provincial and self-contained.

Man, however, by his invention of steam has conquered the seas and made them his roadstead. At present no one thinks more of crossing the ocean than he does of crossing the ferry. This has brought foreign lands near to us.

It has been difficult for us to accommodate ourselves to this idea and we persist in conceiving of foreigners as being peoples totally different from us, whereas if we only see them often enough we find them much the same.

The sea, therefore, has taken down barriers and has not made them.

Someone has said, "We should study maps of the seas with the lands which lie around them, and not maps of the land."

Of the surface of the globe, three-fifths is water. That is, the most of our habitable sphere is made up of the sea. There is more life in the sea than on the land, so scientists tell us. But it is hidden life separated from us by a curtain which we cannot penetrate.

Man is a land animal and is not adapted for breathing sea water. Just as men drown in the sea, so fishes drown in the air.

What goes on in that immense republic of the sea we can only guess. We know it has its monsters, its animalcules, its whales and its minnows, its commonality and its grotesque gentry.

As far as we can see there is no creature in the water that corresponds to man. There is no thinking fish. But there must be some purpose in the great plan for the water population or there would not be so much of it.

There are few experiences more refreshing to the soul than to be in the midst of the great waters, to look out for days upon an expanse of ocean with no land on the horizon. This makes one feel his littleness, his insignificance in the order of things. It is as if one strayed amidst the immense distances of the stars.

The Ravings Of a Grouch

There is a good deal of unrest and dissatisfaction in the world. People are hankering to tear down and destroy, believing this is the only way to achieve reform. The fact of the matter is, most of us do not know what we want and we would not understand how to bring it about if we did.

There is much need of reform in the world, in governments and other institutions as well, but destruction is not the force that will accomplish it. Builders, not iconoclasts, are needed. But it is so much easier and so much more interesting to tear down than it is to create. The little boy laboriously builds his house of blocks for the pleasure of seeing it fall and he seemingly never gets over his love of destroying.

A leader with a sane and constructive line of conduct mapped out to bring about reform is not nearly so popular as the one who denounces vehemently and advocates tearing down the whole structure.

We are all more or less like sheep in this way. We are so easily driven and led. We do not want to take the trouble to think for ourselves and we naturally take it for granted that the one who talks loudest and longest knows the most about his subject. We follow him blindly while the saner leader implores us in vain to go carefully, and warns us that we may be caught in the ruins as the structure falls.

There are evils in the Republican party and in the Democratic party and if our respected independent candidate for the presidency had his way he would destroy them both. That is his way of bringing about reform, to tear down. And there are those who will blindly follow his leadership without knowing exactly what they want or how it is to be brought about. There are those, too, who hate and would destroy what is known as capital without stopping to think what purpose this would serve.

Those who preach the doctrine of destruction as a remedy for all evils will always have hearers and followers. No one or no thing is all evil and it is so much more economical to eliminate the evil and leave the structure standing. When a member is diseased and the surgeons amputate, they do not execute the patient. It is not necessary to commit suicide in order to reform and purge ourselves from sin.

The one who has a program of reform which embraces replacing the evil with good is the sane, constructive, worth-while leader who really accomplishes something for his fellow-men.

Record Crop Brings Profits to Farmers

ST. PAUL, Aug. 1.—Northwestern farmers have begun to harvest the most profitable crop they have raised in ten years, and bankers forecast that business in general will improve as the farmers come into the markets. Bank clearings show that the volume of business now is heavier than a year ago. Retail business is responding to a feeling of more confidence and reasonable midsummer weather.

City Projects Bring Throng of Salesmen

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 1.—The large amount of public work in Philadelphia and pending here, has brought an army of supply salesmen who are anxious to sell contractors anything from a shovel to structural steel. A new trade school for girls, a $750,000 garbage disposal plant, sewers costing $1,500,000, a city hall annex, and a subway system are among the projects involved.

A sixty-inch reflector has been completed by a Cleveland optical works for the Argentine national observatory.

DEDICATE TOWER AT FIRE STATION

Members of Department Will Have Expert Training
In Their Duties

The six-story drill tower of the Glendale fire department at Station No. 1 headquarters, 311 East Broadway, was dedicated this morning by Chief A. H. Lankford. The tower has been under construction for three months by members of the department, assisted by one carpenter. It represents an actual cost of about $600 but is valued at several times that amount.

With such a drill tower Glendale is now on a par with other cities of similar size throughout the country, according to Chief Lankford, the tower idea representing one of the many modern developments of fire fighting.

Course of Training
At Moniot, drill master, has been given an intensive training course under the tutelage of Captain W. W. Tibbets, one of the foremost drill masters on the Pacific coast, through the courtesy of Chief R. J. Scott of the Los Angeles fire department, and will transmit to the Glendale firemen the modern tactics he has learned.

"The idea of a drill tower," declares Chief Lankford, "is to get the men used to being in the air. Any man feels shaky at first, three or more stories up. It gives us, moreover, an opportunity for a practical type of drill that is otherwise impossible. We used to drill in the streets but found that was unsatisfactory, not only taking us away from the station but interfering with traffic."

Will Aid Efficiency
"We can now raise ladders against the tower and practice under approximate fire conditions. I am satisfied that the drill tower will greatly increase the efficiency of my department."

Chief Lankford has arranged a schedule by which alternating groups of men from each of the four stations drill from 8 until 12 o'clock each morning except Saturdays and Sundays. Following is the schedule:
Monday, captains.
Tuesday, drivers.
Wednesday, hosemen.
Thursday, hosemen.
Friday, ladder men and hosemen.

Department Members
The Glendale fire department comprises Chief A. H. Lankford, eight captains, twelve drivers, twenty-six hosemen and ladder men, and one master mechanic, a total of forty-eight men devoting their full time to protecting the city of Glendale from the hazard of fire.

Church Wedding To Unite Marjorie Adelaide Imler And Louis W. Waterfall

Long-time residents of Glendale will have the happiness tonight of attending the marriage of a native Glendale girl, one who, with her family, has been well known locally for many years, Miss Marjorie Adelaide Imler, daughter of Mrs. Adelaide H. Imler and the late D. H. Imler of 336 West Park avenue, to Louis Niles Waterfall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Waterfall of Berkeley.

The many friends of the Imler family have been invited to attend the wedding at 8:30 o'clock at the Glendale Presbyterian church, East Harvard and South Louise streets. Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor of the church, is to be the officiant.

Musical Program
Of special interest will be the bridal music, played by Richard Wagner, talented organist of Fillmore, grandson of the late Judge and Mrs. N. C. Burch, at one time well known residents of Glendale. Mr. Wagner and Miss Imler and her brother were childhood schoolmates. Preceding the ceremony Mr. Wagner will give several numbers and play the wedding marches later.

Miss Imler is to be attended by Mrs. Roy Cole, nee Mildred Wight, of Whittier, as matron of honor; and by Miss Catherine Boyce of Hollywood as maid of honor. Cuning Little Adelaide Jeanne Imler, niece of Miss Imler, will be flower girl.

Wedding Supper
Albert Harker of Long Beach, boyhood friend of Mr. Waterfall, will be best man, while the ushers will be Gavin Witherspoon of Hollywood, Roy Cole of Whittier, Dr. Howard McGillis and Paul Richardson of Glendale.

Miss Imler will be given in marriage by her brother, Eugene H. Imler of Glendale.

After an informal reception at the church the bridal party and a small group of relatives and friends will motor to the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, where a bridal supper will be served in the Italian tea room. The young couple are to reside in Berkeley.

CHAPTER XVII

"She certainly called me Craig last night, but I don't believe she knows it!" Craig thought, in relief. "I may have been getting a little too friendly here. I'll stop it! I won't be able to get to that concert tonight, I'm sorry to say," he added, aloud.

"Too bad!" Hilary commented evenly. Her heart sank. In spite of her utmost effort to be sane she had been sitting here thinking how wonderful it would be if he suddenly decided to attend the concert, and to drive Dora and herself in to Philadelphia for dinner before it and if afterward they went to his dressing room and saw Kronski.

The dream died, and Hilary went soberly home over the cold, dirty snow at noon, and helped Dora with the last of the dishes, and improvised a luncheon of toasted rye bread, eggs, and sardines, and some softening ginger-snaps left on a plate.

Then it was time to dress for the concert, but somehow the life and sparkle had gone out of the whole thing. The prospect of two quietly dressed sisters going in to town at two o'clock and having an hour or two to shop sedately before eating a mild little dinner somewhere, and attending a violin concert, had strangely lost its charm. Hilary had always loved little expeditions with Dora; the quietest of them had always possessed for her a certain delight. Just to sit in the train was exciting; just to say "See, Butterfly, isn't that an adorable baby in that backyard?" or "Dora, you can't remember, but I can, when people used to stand in the streets and stare up at aeroplanes as if they were black magic!"

Today she felt jaded, oddly discontented and soul-weary. Every one else in the world was having a nicer time than the Colliers; but the Colliers were so simple that they deceived themselves into thinking that they were unusually destined—unusually fortunate!

This mood was not unknown to Dora, but finding it reflected in herself alarmed Hilary. This would not do! She must somehow redeem this forlorn expedition; it was delightful, it was a great occasion!

She conscientiously tried. She admired Dora in her pressed old black velvet, she laughed cheerfully when they had to run for their train, she said that they would be wildly extravagant and have a really fine dinner somewhere. But it all fell flat. Everything was an anticlimax, after last night. In spite of herself a little conviction of disappointment, of being unjustly treated, would creep into her heart. Even before the concert she began feverishly to wish that the whole thing was over, and that she and Dora were home again, and that it was a peaceful, commonplace Sunday morning, with the world lost to them, and they lost to the world. Life wasn't forever, anyway.

Their seats, in the big hall, were surprisingly good, and the music was glorious. Kronski played to a full house, and seemed once more the remote celebrity that he had been to them at this time yesterday. Dora and Hilary, after some rather heated debate, in which neither knew exactly what she wished to do, went in to congratulate him afterward, and found him cordial and kind even among a push of other enthusiastic admirers.

"You will be doing this some day—if you are a good Butterfly and work hard!" Dora had to remember, as a special personal word from the lion of the hour, and to Hilary, Kronski said confidentially: "You look at all this, in your good, motherly heart, and you say it is all nonsense, and is it not so? Take a cup and drink it up and call the neighbors to come in!" That's better, eh?

After this the circling crowd somewhat pushed them aside, and they stood irresolute and troubled, smiling automatically as they watched him, not knowing quite what to do. Then Hilary said suddenly in a low tone:

"I think we had better slip away. So many people don't you think we had better?"

And Dora, discontentedly, and with a hint of moisture in her eyes, answered desolately:

"Yes, I guess so."

It was all over. They had seen Kronski, heard him not only in public but in private; made of him a warm friend, and won from him all that their mother and father could ever have hoped for Dora. And yet there was a bitter disappointment about it all that made it harder than ever for Dora to work patiently and steadily and marked even for sober and sensible Hilary a certain turning point in her life.

She began to long to get away; to leave this petty environment of Underwoods and Spauldings and Morrills. She imagined Dora and herself in some clean little

Planes Drown Voice Of Pastor, Complaint

SANTA ANA, Aug. 1.—Rev. P. F. Schrock of the First Congregational church found heavenly competition during the course of an open air meeting Sunday. Two airplanes overhead made so much racket the worshippers could not hear the sermon, he informs the City Council. The fliers maintain they were above the 1500 foot altitude mark set by ordinance.

pension abroad, studying, working, planning, everything in the world to each other once more! Craig had been different since the evening party at Sugarhouse Lane. She saw it, and felt it keenly, and met it with a change on her own part. He should not think that she was entirely a sentimental idiot. She had had the merit of weakness, never to be remembered without blushing cheeks and a quickened heart, but it was over now. She was Miss Collier, his uncle's secretary, who planned to take her sister abroad for musical work in the fall.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BUNTY'S BALL

"Who-o-o-o," called a jolly little voice at an open window of the rabbit's hollow stump bungalow one day. Mr. Longears was sitting at the window reading in the paper how much cabbage was going to cost next winter. "Who-o-o-o! Who-o-o-o!" cried the voice again.

Uncle Wiggily looked over the tops of his glasses and saw Baby Bunty, the little rabbit girl, waving one of her paws at him. The reason she didn't wave the other paw was because she held something in it.

"I've come over to play with you, Uncle Wiggily!" laughed the little tyke of a bunny child. The reason I call her a "tyke" is because she was always teasing Uncle Wiggily—wanting him to tag her and the like of that.

"Oh, you've come over to play with me, have you?" asked Mr. Longears, giving his pink nose a sideways twinkle, as he always did when he was fussed or bothered.

"Well, Bunty, I'm sorry, but I'm going out adventuring and I have no time to play."

"Oh, I don't want you to play with me!" laughed Bunty, trying to make her little pink nose twinkle as her uncle did his larger one. "I said I had come to play with you. And you don't need to bother with me a bit, for I have brought my bouncing ball with me, and I'm going to play with that."

Then Uncle Wiggily saw what it was Bunty held in her paw that she hadn't waved at him. It was a large, bouncing rubber ball.

"See how high my ball bounces!" cried Bunty. With that she threw the ball down on the ground. Up it bounced and down it came, right in the open window, and it hit the bunny gentleman on his nose.

"Ouch!" he cried.

"Oh!" gasped Bunty. "I—now I didn't mean to do that!"

"I'll forgive you!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "But don't do it again. Now, since you have your rubber ball, play with that and I'll go adventuring." So Uncle Wiggily hopped over the fields and through the woods to look for adventures, before Bunty could bounce her ball on his nose again.

But though Uncle Wiggily had left the hollow stump bungalow, Bunty was still there. She bounced her ball all over it. It went up and when it came down it banged Nurse Jane on the tail, it fell on the table and broke a plate and oh! there was a dreadful time with Bunty's ball—really dreadful!

"I wish Uncle Wiggily would come home and do something!" sighed Nurse Jane as she heard the plunkety plunk of Bunty's bouncing ball in the next room. Then there was a crash.

"Oh, I've broken another plate!" cried Bunty.

"Oh, why doesn't Uncle Wiggily come!" exclaimed Nurse Jane.

And just then the rabbit gentleman came hopping along as fast as he could hop. And no wonder he hopped fast, for the Bob Cat was chasing him.

"Oh, look! Look!" cried Nurse Jane. "Oh, the Bob Cat will get Uncle Wiggily!"

"No, he won't!" shouted Baby Bunty. "I'll fix that Bob Cat!"

With that the brave little rabbit

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANSWERS TO MOTHERS

Mrs. M.—One of the symptoms of rickets is excessive perspiration during sleep. Is your little boy getting a correct diet and is he out in the sunshine and fresh air a large part of the time? He could have some cod liver oil, one teaspoon or so a day. The articles I wrote on Child and Infant Feeding in health and the common diseases of childhood are combined in book form and we have a list of other books on the subject. You may have this list by requesting same and enclosing s. a. s. e.

Your boy should be having a liberal diet. The foundation diet I have given is as follows:

PROTECTIVE FOODS—Three glasses of milk, at least, a day. One full cupful of vegetables (especially the green-leaf vegetables) part raw. One full cupful of fruit, part fresh.

ENERGY FOODS—Cereals, including whole grain breads. Fats in the form of butter, nuts, egg yolks and cheese.

"Dear Doctor Peters—My little daughter fell on her forehead some time ago and the swelling has not disappeared. Did I do wrong by applying hot water immediately? I would appreciate your kindness in telling me whether hot or cold water should be applied to a bruise or swelling; also what I can do to make the hardened lump disappear?"—Mrs. A. M.

The rule for the application of cold and hot water is that cold water or ice water is used usually in the beginning of an inflammatory condition, but after it has got a good start the hot water seems more effective. It may take some time for a bruise or swelling to disappear. I think if you will massage the spot every day (after the inflammation is over) it will help it. Better have a physician see it, however.

Mrs. D.—Your baby of 15 months of age has skin that is dry and seems to peel. You will have to keep her greased.

Perhaps your baby has the rare skin disease called ichthyosis, from the word meaning "fish scales." This disease is considered a congenital disease—that is, the child is born with it, although sometimes it does not appear until the second month and sometimes still later. The skin is harsh, dry and scaly and usually most pronounced on the outer surface of the legs and arms. It is worse in cold weather. The cause is not known, although it is thought that there may be some disturbance of the thyroid glands.

It apparently does not affect the health, as your baby's health testifies.

One of the simple remedies is one part of glycerine to five parts of rose water and about 10 drops of carbolic acid to the point of the solution. This must be rubbed on twice a day. In one of my medical textbooks, there is the report of a case which was cured by giving a daily morning bath of soap and water followed by rubbing five per cent sulphur ointment. The ointment was used at noon and night also. Cod liver oil also was given in this case.

Is your baby getting a correct diet and plenty of sunshine and fresh air?

Mrs. M.—You say the calves of your five months' old baby seem to be one-sided. Not having seen them I can't tell, of course, if they are abnormal, but babies' legs are apt to be slightly bowed, and they do not get their permanent shape until the babies begin to walk. I imagine you have nothing to worry about; but if you think you have, better see your physician.

"Dear Doctor—Perhaps you would like to know how much your description of the new baby's layette helped me. This is my third baby and the only one in which the layette problem was solved so easily and comfortably."

It was some time ago that I told about the baby's layette, and as Mrs. J. has found it so helpful, I'll run it again very soon.

Mrs. L.—We have articles on colic and diarrhea which you may have by sending a s. a. s. e. with your request.

Social : Clubs

Edited by KATHERINE V. SINKS

Lunch at Club

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Bartlett of 333 West Broadway were hosts yesterday to a group of relatives and friends, entertaining them at luncheon at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse and for an informal social afternoon at their home on West Broadway.

At the clubhouse the luncheon table was set in the Italian tea room. The centerpiece of the table was a basket of lovely blue delphinium and yellow napdragons. Places were marked for Mrs. Emma Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Norman M. Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Smith of Alhambra; Mrs. P. M. Peterson of Long Beach; Mrs. J. M. Border and her guest, Miss Esther Steadman of Santa Barbara, and Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett.

Birthday Honor

Mildred Fife of 217 North Jackson street was hostess to a number of her little friends at a delightful children's party Wednesday in honor of Jean Lyons. The rooms were prettily decorated with garden flowers and the dainty appointments of the refreshment tables were in pastel shades. A unique feature was the drawing of dainty favors from the big Jack Horner pie that centered the table.

The guests were Jean Lyons, Lottie Hudson, Fern Johnson, Ethel Clarye, Zimmerman, Martha Sherwood, Alice Ayars, Alice Fuesher, Margaret Isitt, Margaret Helfrich, Gabrielle Bondeaux, Helen, Lucy, Clarita and Frances McCormick, Roberta Cowan, Helen Sloan, Albert and Russell Newton. The hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. J. N. Fife.

passed the Bursum bill granting these increases. The president repassed it, but passage over veto failed in the senate.

Economy Program

President Coolidge told Congress the public purse and prevailing conditions did not warrant an increase in the pay of postal employees. Congress passed a bill granting the increase. The president vetoed it and there was an attempt to revive the measure in the dying hours of the session.

President Coolidge told Congress it would violate a solemn agreement and grievously offend a friendly nation if it wrote Japanese exclusion specifically into the new immigration bill. Japan vigorously protested. Secretary Hughes all but threatened to resign. The president sent for the party leaders in congress. All to no avail. Congress passed the bill just as it pleased. The president was forced to sign because of the restriction generally needed on the alien rush, but he said if he could pass upon the Japanese section independently he would veto it without hesitation.

Strengthens Position

This, then, was the president's record with Congress at a time when he had determined to seek nomination from his party. Instead of weakening him with the people at large, the contests and conflicts with Congress immensely strengthened him. Mr. Coolidge's first utterances as president were most reassuring to the conservative elements of his own party and of the country at large. They regarded him as a man who could "sit steady in the boat" and he has strengthened that opinion of him ever since.

The situation here in Washington was none too reassuring when Mr. Coolidge was called upon to take the reins of government. The Republicans in 1922 had lost the election in many states and Congress was Republican on paper only. There were rumors and rumblings of the coming storm of investigations. "The Ohio gang" was beginning to get into the papers. "The little green house on K street" was becoming nationally known.

Long in Public Office

Although he had been in public office for nearly twenty years, the people at large knew very little of Mr. Coolidge. He had been inconspicuous as a vice president. His comings and goings at the White House and the capitol suggested never an element of news. There was recollection of a firm hand in the Boston police strike, but even there it had been said that the Democratic mayor of Boston deserved a very large share of the credit for maintaining law and order.

Mr. Coolidge went quietly about his task as president. The people had to wait from August 2 to the opening of Congress in December to get the first general expression of the views of the silent man from Massachusetts. The president's message, short, sharp and crisp, made a generally favorable impression, especially upon the members of his own party. Mr. Coolidge had found most of the Harding cabinet to his liking. He particularly began to lean upon Messrs. Mellon and Hughes and Hoover and Weeks, and does so to this day.

Not Congress Business

In the midst of the investigations, when the Senate passed a resolution demanding the resignation of Secretary of Navy Denby, Mr. Coolidge sent the resolution back with a sharp reminder that he alone was responsible for his cabinet and it was a matter with which Congress had no concern. Later, when Mr. Denby voluntarily resigned, however, Mr. Coolidge made no effort to restrain him. Also when Attorney General Daugherty became further em-

Informal Evening

Silvers of San Bernardino.

Following the service Mr. and Mrs. Miller were honored at a wedding breakfast for twenty-five at the Alley Inn on South Brand boulevard. The breakfast table was artistically decorated with pink and cream roses and pink candlesticks.

Hundred Air Craft In War Maneuvers

SAN DIEGO, July 31.—The most extensive aerial war maneuvers on the Pacific coast since 1918 will get under way Monday at Rockwell field here. A hundred army airplanes will participate, some sixty of which are en route today from their home flying fields at Santa Monica, San Francisco, Seattle, Salt Lake City and other western points.

The planes now at Rockwell field, with those on the wing to the southward, will constitute the largest number of aerial fighting craft mobilized since the war. The flight operations will continue for five weeks. Lieutenant Oakley Kelly of non-stop continental flight fame is in command of a division.

Patient Submits to Surgical Operation

Mrs. Rodney Wyatt of 518 North Central avenue underwent minor surgery this morning at the Glendale Research hospital.

broiled with Congress, Mr. Coolidge did not hesitate to ask for his resignation. Mr. Daugherty and his friends believed he had been wronged, but the president would enter into no argument with them. There was a touch of Rooseveltian ruthlessness in this action which revealed a new side to the president. Mr. Coolidge has demonstrated in his year at the White House that he does not know how to play. He works long hours. His only recreation is walking and an occasional sail on the Mayflower. The confinement of the White House has begun to tell on him. He is far less vigorous in appearance than he was a few months ago.

Business Conditions Here Cause for Rejoicing, Says Mrs. Stocker

Californians should congratulate themselves on the fine condition of business and employment here in comparison with conditions in the middle west, is the declaration of Mrs. Louise Stocker of 346 West Doran street, manager of the C. and S. Cafeteria on North Brand boulevard, who is home from a nine weeks' trip that took her to Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas, Wyoming and Colorado. "Conditions are not as good in those states as in California," says Mrs. Stocker. "Furthermore the employment conditions are very discouraging."

Mrs. Stocker visited at her old home in St. Joseph, Missouri, and brought home with her, her mother, Mrs. Margaret Hans. There are now four generations represented at Mrs. Stocker's home. Mrs. Hans, her daughter, Mrs. Stocker; Mrs. Stocker's daughter, Mrs. James T. Stewart; and Mrs. Stewart's daughter, Betty Jane.

Pushing Back the Wall

"THE vast territory covered by these lines at once strikes the observer, and some conception may be had of the importance of the long distance telephone in the business world of the east."

This was the contemporary comment of a scientific journal on the long distance telephone service of 1890. The "vast territory" ended with Pittsburgh on the west and Washington on the south. Along its frontier stood a wall of silence.

No such barrier now confines the voice of man. To places and to people he has never even seen fly his wire-borne thoughts. Over distances which it would take him days to travel his words speed in an instant.

The 90,000 miles of toll wire of 1890 have grown to more than 4,500,000 miles carrying a daily average of more than 1,600,000 long distance conversations.

Thus has the wall of silence been pushed back to the edges of the continent. In its place is a nation-wide telephone service.

NEW HURLER GETS WIN FOR VERNON

Lad From South Proves Too Good For Angels, Work With Stick Helps

LOS ANGELES, August 1.—Every now and then there comes along a real ballplayer, usually a youngster, who is spoiled when the fans get a crush on him and he is sent to the big show. Ed Bryan, late of Texarkana, Ark., is just such a kid pitcher, lucky and likable and a born merchant of his wares on the diamond. He was responsible for Vernon's victory yesterday by a score of 7 to 3.

Bryan allowed plenty of hits, but scattered them, just as the batters scattered many of his offerings for fouls and pop flies. And when his team needed scores Bryan took the willow stick and tripled, doubled, singled and otherwise performed in a commendable manner.

Charlie Root gave way to Weinert after six innings of lead slugging. In the opening canto he allowed Vernon three runs which his teammates never overcame. The Tigers now are one game ahead of the Angels in the city series.

In twelve innings the Oaks downed the Seals in the east bay bough by a 5-4 score with both Goehler and Williams a little free with hits which neither team was able to bunch to suit the fans who endured the sunshine.

Although Biedert pitched a poor game, the Portland Ducks scored five runs on six hits and took the Sacramento Solons down to defeat, 5 to 4. Long Tom Hughes was the victim of his brethren.

At Seattle the Salt Lake club broke even in a double header by winning the first 11 to 2 and dropping the afterpiece 4 to 1.

Furniture Lads Drop Match to Spark Crew

The furniture lads from Russell & Pierce dropped three close games to the spark crew from Penner Brothers at the Recreation alleys last night. F. Brehme of the winners saved the second game for them when he rolled 242 in high score, putting the Penner team seven pins ahead of their opponents.

An individual bowling tournament will be held at the Recreation alleys next Monday and Tuesday nights.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP

By FAIR PLAY Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The tip is out that the New York politicians have won the fight to have the Leonard-Walker bout held in the metropolis. According to the story, Tex Rickard will be granted a temporary license to hold the show on the Polo grounds. This would indicate that Rickard has somehow been able to square himself with the Jersey authorities. If he has not, he certainly will be out of luck, as he proposes to hold the Piro-Pills battle over in Jersey City and the Jersey men could crimp his plans a whole lot if they got angry with Tex. Some lovers of boxing in New York wish that Jersey would keep the fight. It is a big money bout, and where there is big money there is always danger of scandal.

As an indication that the fight game is not what it should be financially this season, the receipts of the Pancho Villa-Willis Woods ten-round battle in Boston the other night may be cited. Villa, the world's flyweight champion, came to Boston on a five thousand guarantee and won the decision. But the club lost money on the fight.

Luis Vicentini has signed a contract to fight Jack Bernstein on August 12 and the hope is that the winner will go against Benny Leonard in September. Thus proceeds the not too successful effort to kick up a lot of interest over a lightweight championship battle.

Charlie Weinert's showing against Romero Rojas, the Chilean, at Newark the other night excited the curiosity, not to say the ire, of his admirers. Until the last few rounds he used nothing but his left hand, and Romero had him outpointed. Then the Adonis started with his right and was very interesting. Weinert looks to be in splendid condition, having taken the best of care of himself in recent months. He is planning for an active winter season. There is no cleverer boxer extant than Weinert. He might have been a champion had he taken himself seriously.

Mickey Walker has begun training at Summit, N. J., for his bout with Benny Leonard. Mickey is an enthusiastic baseball player, although no big league scout would ever be likely to sign him. Shortly there is going to be a game between Mickey and his sparring partners, trainers, etc., against eye sporting scribes.

Of all the fighters, Jim Corbett holds the palm as a baseball player, or did hold it. It seems to be the opinion that had Jim turned to the national game as a profession instead of boxing, he could have been a big leaguer. Pete Latzo is a star ball player. Jim Delaney is good at the game, and Tommy Gibbons is not bad. Dempsey cuts a poor figure with ball and bat. Carpenter could probably win the world's championship in a boxers' lawn tennis tourney. Gene Tunney could probably take all in his profession at golf, but Tommy Gibbons might give him a hold at that.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—As George Kelly, first baseman for the New York Giants, went into the game with Pittsburgh yesterday afternoon, he received a telegram advising him his father had dropped dead in San Francisco. The big first sacker went through his practice as usual and took his place in the lineup when the game was called. He could not reach the coast in time for the funeral. He will be out of the game the day his father is buried.

Professor Is III
Tours of professional big league teams have helped make the sport popular in Japan and Chicago has done much to further the national game there.

In addition to the money shortage at Waseda, Professor Ido Abee, the father of Japanese college baseball, has been too ill to look after the details of conducting the Maroon series in his country. Abee and his Waseda team were last here in the spring of 1921. They met several American college nines that year, traveling from coast to coast.

If business conditions pick up in Japan, perhaps the 1925 Chicago team will have a chance to inhale the odors of cherry blossoms. But the 1924 outfit is out of luck.

GOOD FIGHTS ON HOLLYWOOD CARD

Bob Sage, Detroit, Makes Western Debut; Montoya Meets Pimenthal

Fight fans of Southern California will have an opportunity to night to see Bob Sage, sensational Detroit middleweight, in action against Mickey Rockson at the Hollywood American Legion stadium, when Sage makes his Pacific coast debut. Sage has been unusually successful in the east during his brief career in the mitt game, while Rockson acquired a lot of prestige by battling Bert Colima to a draw recently.

In addition to the importance attached to the main event, Johnny Adams, San Bernardino lightweight, who won the Pacific coast lightweight belt two weeks ago when he threw a lot of gloves at Frankie Burns, will be properly and ceremonially girdled to night with the belt presented by the Hollywood post.

In the semi-windup Johnny Lamar and Johnny Drew should step four fast, furious rounds. Both are favorites with Hollywood followers and anything might happen in this match. Ernie Ross and Frankie Osner will be seen in the special spot.

Toby Montoya and Joe Pimenthal, who staged a whizz of a fight two weeks ago, have been re-matched by Matchmaker Tom Kennedy and will be the feature preliminary. Montoya landed one on Joe's chin just as Joe connected with Toby's anatomy, and both went down, two weeks ago. Toby got up, but they dragged Joe to his corner and he was not able to come out for the next round. Joe is intent on turning the tables to night and a lively time is expected.

JAPS CANCEL ALL BASEBALL PLANS

University of Chicago Nine Will Not Visit Island This Season

By LAWRENCE PERRY Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Waseda university of Japan has cabled the University of Chicago to cancel the proposed tour of the Nippon island by the Maroon ball team this month. Evidently the earthquake did more than merely shake buildings down in the Land of Cherry Blossoms.

At least economic reasons are given and accepted as the reason for the action of the Japanese college. There appears to be no thought that resentment concerning our immigration restrictions played any part in the decision.

At any rate, it is a real blow to Chicago, as the Midway nine has looked forward to its Oriental jaunt each year for quite a number of years. The Waseda-Chicago series is the oldest prolonged international college baseball series in history. Since an American first introduced the game to the island in the nineties, the Japs have taken to it as easily as they have acquired the art of high class tennis.

SEEK FUNDS FOR CAMPAIGN FIGHT

Political Parties Plan to Raise Huge Sums for Presidential Race

By ROBERT T. SMALL

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924. WASHINGTON, July 31.—Plans being made for the presidential campaign this year contemplate probably the largest expenditure of money in the history of politics. The use of money in presidential fights no longer carries with it the taint of corruption. Legitimate expenses have grown greater and greater as the years have gone by and the high cost of living has hit the hustings as well as the home.

Senator Borah, of Idaho, chairman of the special senate committee which is to report campaign expenditures, expects to have a busy time of it between now and early November for all of the committees have decided to emulate the example of Chairman Butler of the Republicans and give Mr. Borah detailed reports from time to time as the campaign progresses.

Seek Huge Fund
Announcement that the independent progressives headed by Senator La Follette and Senator Wheeler are going to attempt to raise a campaign fund of at least $3,000,000 gives some inkling of what the aggregate expenditures of the campaign may be. This is far more than the Democrats were able to obtain in 1920. The Democrats practically starved to death that year while the Republicans revelled in plenty.

This year the Democrats are hopeful that things will be different. They may easily raise a campaign fund of $5,000,000. The Republicans may raise even more, so there is reason to believe that in the national political strong boxes there will be gathered approximately $15,000,000 for electioneering purposes.

Radio, an entirely new expense in national campaigns, will get the lion's share of the expenditure, according to present plans. The broadcasting companies are going to reap a real harvest and get back some of the heavy sums they have spent in developing the newest art of communication. Thus far there has been no attempt to standardize the political charges for broadcasting other than a preliminary statement by the American Telephone & Telegraph company that it expected to get $10 a minute and to limit speeches to ten minutes' duration.

Short and Snappy
This time limit is proposed not alone for the benefit of the listeners-in, but for the politicians' well. The broadcasting agencies know their invisible audiences. They know they will not listen patiently to any person for much more than ten minutes. In all political audiences there is a large percentage of persons who walk out on the candidate soon after he begins to talk. How much easier it will be for the radio listeners to turn the knob and cut short the best of the orators. The radio people believe they can give the politicians the best value by limiting them sharply in the amount of time they can consume on the air.

Furthermore, it is feared that too much politics would drive the listeners from the head phones and the loud speakers. Radio audiences crave variety and will seek for it all around the dial. A too liberal mixture of political address in the program would defeat the purpose of the political chiefs and make their expenditures useless.

Davis Favors Radio
Word has reached Democratic headquarters here that John W. Davis, the presidential candidate is leaning more and more toward a radio campaign rather than to take the two big swings around the circle which were suggested to him. Mr. Davis feels he can reach more people by radio than he can by train. His managers, however, are desirous that he should meet the people face to face, so far as possible. They are anxious to "sell" his personality and while a certain amount of personality will express itself through the microphone, it is not to be compared with personal contact.

Already it has been arranged that President Coolidge shall do most of his political campaigning over the radio. The presidential broadcasting however is not likely to cost the Republican National Committee very heavily, for Mr. Coolidge will speak most of the time in connection with some public event which would warrant the broadcasting stations in carrying the speech regardless of the campaign. Such an event is that of Friday night when Mr. Coolidge will speak by radio to a company of Boy Scouts gathered at dinner in New York prior to sailing for Europe on Saturday. It is peculiarly fitting that Mr. Coolidge should speak to the boys of America at this time when his heart is so full of the sorrow attending the loss of his own young son.

When the president announced he would speak to the boys there was a catch in his voice which told, far more, than the black silken band on his left arm.

Want Popularity
Both of the older parties are going to try to make their campaign funds as popular as possible, but neither side will limit the amount that an individual may give. Will Hays attempted to do that in 1920 and piled up a deficit of something like $2,000,000 before the campaign was cast. In wiping out this deficit the Republicans cast the Hays rule of

Marbelite Standards Are Urged For Light System For Colorado Boulevard

The committee appointed by the Colorado Boulevard Improvement association to investigate and report on the type of lighting standards to be installed along Colorado boulevard submitted their report last night at the meeting that was held in the City Hall, unanimously recommending that the Marbelite standards be adopted.

This report follows a series of careful investigations of different types of standards, with a comparison of costs and other details governing the installation. The number of standards to be installed will be close to two hundred, and the cost of each one will be $122, to which is to be added $75 each for cost of installation, which, with other minor expenses, will run the cost of the new system up to the neighborhood of $50,000, according to F. A. Clarke, 351 Oak street the representative here of the Marbelite Corporation of America. The report follows: REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF SEVEN APPOINTED BY COLORADO BOULEVARD IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION TO INVESTIGATE LIGHTING STANDARDS.

"Your committee consisting of the directors of this association, were instructed at the last mass meeting of the association to pass upon the various types of lighting standards offered the property owners along the boulevard. After careful investigation your committee has decided on Marbelite and recommend it to you for the following reasons:

- 1 It is cheaper, both as to cost per unit and as to cost of installing.
- 2 It is more durable and better suited for our climatic conditions than metal.
- 3 The maintenance costs are less due to the fact that no painting is necessary and to the further fact that they are not so easily injured and, even if struck, will seldom fall to the ground to the complete ruin of the lighting units, as is the case with metal poles if struck. Further than this, if the Marbelite poles are damaged, they can be straightened and repaired at a very nominal cost. This has been proven in Glendale.
- 4 The standards of the Marbelite Company are furnished, set up on the foundations, whereas the other standards in question are shipped in by carload, have to be unloaded, hauled into storage places, picked up again, laid on the ground beside the foundations and there erected by the contractor, all at the expense of the property owner for all the hauling, breaking and possible loss.
- 5 The Marbelite standards are good in appearance and have recently been chosen for some of the finest boulevards in the south, notably Washington boulevard in Los Angeles, which is now installing this type of standard in a special design.
- 6 Engineering opinion which has been secured is much in favor of the Marbelite type, for the reasons specified above, and the smaller front foot price for this installation, due to the avoidance of the cost items above mentioned.
- 7 The product is manufactured in Southern California, and your committee visited the works and found a tremendous industry, employing a great many men and apparently on a very substantial footing. We believe that all other things being equal, we should patronize local industry, particularly so when it will effect a large saving and serve us with what we consider the best to be had in this line.
- 8 We find that there is no essential difference in the various standards submitted so far as the light units or the electrical apparatus is concerned. Any sort of lights or compensators can be used with either type and neither offers any inducements over the other so far as this feature is concerned.
- 9 However, the type of lantern submitted by the Marbelite representative and now on display in front of the Elks building is manufactured in Los Angeles and offers some inducements not to be had in the other types of lanterns, although we understand that this lantern may also be had with the standards of the other light standard companies. We would recommend this particular lantern for our installation for two reasons: It is made of bronze instead of cast iron and uses a type of glass which seems very efficient and looks very good both in the day time and when lighted at night. We understand that this lantern does not ordinarily use a refractor, but one may be had if needed. In this respect we must be guided by the requirements of the city electrical department, regardless of what type standards or lanterns we choose.
- 10 The underground installation of this lantern is the same for either type standard and there is no argument either way in this.
- 11 In the final analysis it gets down to the fact that our choice is based upon the following:

"Wall Street," may contribute heavily to both Democratic and Republican chests, but Mr. La Follette and his followers will have to go elsewhere. Someone suggested that when Mr. Davis was nominated "Big Business" was so well satisfied with the two leading candidates for the presidency that it would fail to contribute funds. The Democrats counted that a moral victory in itself for they said they had never gotten any business money any way and if they could keep it away from the Republicans a long stride forward had been made.

giving nightly performances, the attorneys say.

At any time after that date the court may take steps to decide whether or not Murphy's Comedians are conducting a nuisance, as claimed by the Board of Supervisors, the attorneys state. If it is found that they are conducting such a nuisance, then they will be given an opportunity to abate it before being closed. It may therefore be assumed, the attorneys state, that the show will continue for some time without further interference by the county authorities, as their license is good until October 1.

The law provides that the county supervisors may revoke a license whenever they choose, according to Attorney Everson, but that they must first grant a hearing.

Following is a copy of the court order which allows Murphy's Comedians to continue the operation of their theatre:

FARMERS' PROFITS STILL ON PAPER

Dollars Not Yet In Jeans Of Agriculturists, Says Business Writer

By J. C. ROYLE

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924. NEW YORK, July 31.—The farmer is not yet out of the woods, in spite of the widespread assertion that the agriculturists of America would have a billion dollars more to spend than they had last year. Like many a prospective Wall street millionaire, his profits still are on paper. He has yet to close his trades and completely market his products and still have the dollars to jingle in his jeans.

Many surely will accomplish this successfully and profitably, but others are counting their chickens before the eggs even are in the incubator. In other words, they are counting their crops already sold at present high prices, although there is no certain assurance that they will dispose of them at such figures.

Would Avoid Danger
Undoubtedly, if they could sell the fruits of their fields at prices prevailing today they would have a most successful year, and the bankers, businessmen and manufacturers of the country would rejoice with them, since it would tend to benefit all business. But there are contingencies which cannot be overlooked in estimating the increased purchasing power of the farmer this year.

Level-headed businessmen, traders and financiers who express the sentiments indicated above make it plain that they do not believe the effects of the recent sensational rises in prices of farm products or minimize the profits which they hope will accrue to the growers. They state they desire merely to avoid the danger to business in general of over-estimating the purchasing power of rural communities until crop returns are in the form of cash.

The department of agriculture, they point out, estimates the wheat production of the country at 740,000,000 bushels, as compared with 786,000,000 bushels harvested last year. Thus the wheat growers must sell their grain this year at a higher price than in 1923 in order to realize an equal amount. Some experts place this necessary advance at 12 cents a bushel, or more. July wheat today is well above $1.30 a bushel, compared with an average of 93 cents in July of last year.

Forecast Corn Crop
The corn crop is forecast by the department at $2,515,385,000 bushels, as compared with 3,046,387,000 bushels harvested last year. The July corn price today is hovering around $1.40 a bushel, compared with the 1923 July average of $1.55 cents. Not only the smaller production but taken into account in estimating the total cash returns to the farmer, but corn is not a direct market crop and the profit to the grower depends to a large extent on the price of live stock, since a goodly part of the corn crop is sold in the form of fattened animals.

The oats crop is forecast at 1,356,338,000 bushels, as against 1,299,823,000 bushels last year. The present price is around 55 cents, as against the 1923 July average of 47 cents.

All the prices mentioned undoubtedly mean profits, but the prices on the Chicago board of trade, not farm prices, which usually are well under the market center quotations. The farmer, like the Wall street speculator, may overstay his market.

Break Price
When enough farmers take it in mind to sell at the same time the weight of grain thrown on the markets may serve to break the price. The world crop situation is favorable to America this year, but the world financial situation is decidedly uncertain.

Russia is faced by a wheat famine. The Canadian crop, the chief rival of the United States in world markets, undoubtedly is lighter than last year. These facts are favorable since Canada, in the last twelve months, exported 349,000,000 bushels of wheat, as compared with 126,000,000 shipped from this country.

Reapers Are Busy
Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Colorado and Nebraska have harvested this year about 22,000,000 acres of wheat and prospects are favorable in South Dakota, Montana and North Dakota. The reapers are already busy in the far northwest. From some sections, such as Kansas, where conditions were especially propitious, come reports of poor farmers who have suddenly become rich as a result of the wheat crop.

They have—on paper—but could with these reports come statements that many a grower anticipating still further advances, are holding, not selling, their grain. If grain can go up, it also can go down, bankers point out, but, in the meantime, some of the farmers are spending their paper profits.

CAMP SITE GIVEN TO WOMEN'S CLUB

Two Lots at La Jolla Are Gift to Organization By Syndicate

EAGLE ROCK, Aug. 1.—The Women's Twentieth Century club has accepted the gift of two lots in the vicinity of the La Jolla Country club, donated as the local clubwomen's future camping site.

The lots were donated to the club by Fred Mellen, Jr., and John C. Wolfe, Jr., of the Salisbury Sales syndicate, builders of the La Jolla clubhouse. The property is within a 10 hours' ride from Los Angeles and lies in a picturesque and attractive location, ideally suited for camping purposes, the members feel.

The clubwomen were the guests of the syndicate early in July and enjoyed a day's outing at the company's property.

Following their visit the syndicate offered to donate two lots which the members might select as a gift to the club. The ladies were delighted over the generosity of the offer and when the club sessions are opened in the fall one of the first plans to be discussed will be the building of a camping lodge for members of the Women's Twentieth Century club and their families.

Wrong Baggage
"Not mixed dates, but mixed luggage," says Donnell G. Montgomery, who experienced slight inconvenience upon arriving at Catalina Island recently, when he discovered that his suitcase had been delivered to the party holding the room number next to his.

He had just about figured what the contents of the bag would be worth, when he received a phone call, after returning to Eagle Rock, stating that a lady passenger had been handed his suitcase instead of her own and that he might have the same by calling for it. He did.

Mrs. E. E. Hufford and daughter, Jeannette, are on a trip to Medicine Hat, Can., where they will visit a brother of Mrs. Hufford, whom she has not seen for twenty-six years. On their return trip they expect to see something of Banff, Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle and Portland.

BUMPER ORANGE CROP
SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 1.—A yield of more than 4,000,000 boxes of oranges is predicted for this county by Horticultural Commissioner J. P. Coy. The June drop has stopped and the heat wave of the last two days has not hurt the crop which will be 85 per cent of last year's bumper production.

More than a half century of happiness together has been the lot of Mr. and Mrs. David R. Denison of 702 East Harvard street, who yesterday celebrated the fifty-first anniversary of their marriage. Marking the event was a dinner at 2 o'clock, at which Mr. and Mrs. Denison entertained their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cassidy and two daughters, and Mrs. Brooks of Ventura.

Mr. and Mrs. Denison were married July 31, 1873, in Erie, Kansas. Mrs. Denison, who was formerly Clara Richardson, was born in Alton, Illinois, and was 19 years old when she became Mrs. Denison's bride. He was born in Westmoreland county, Pa., and was 34 years old when married.

Civil War Veteran
For fourteen years the Denisons lived in Sterling, Illinois, where Mr. Denison followed the trade of millwright. He went to the Civil War in 1862 with the Sixty-ninth Illinois infantry. In 1867, they came to California, locating at Ventura, where they lived until six years ago, when they came to Glendale.

They are both loyal members of the First Methodist church and Mr. Denison is a member of the N. P. Banks post, G. A. R., and also a member of the Knights Templar.

ENGINEER PASSES BOULEVARD WORK

Improvements on Colorado Accepted; Strip Left To Install Sewer

The street work on Colorado boulevard from the San Fernando road to the Eagle Rock city limits has been officially accepted for the city of Glendale by Benjamin F. Dupuy, city engineer. The improvement is approximately a mile in length and cost $216,024. The specifications are National pavement, Thompson, Hauser & Packer of Burbank were the contractors.

The width of Colorado boulevard is eighty feet from property line to property line, in most places. A strip of the pavement twenty-four feet wide, in the center, was left from the Eagle Rock avenue to Glendale avenue, and a strip sixteen feet wide, in the center, was left from Central avenue to the San Fernando road. The strip has been scarified, oiled and graveled.

Route for Sewer
One of the main laterals for the forthcoming $1,600,000 sewer system will ultimately be laid down Colorado boulevard and it is for this reason that the center strip was left unpaired, according to Mr. Dupuy.

The contract for the improvement of this street was let October 13, 1923. The work has just been finished. Sidewalks are now being put in on private property, by private contract, and street light proceedings have been instituted.

AUTO PROBE BY OPTIMISTS CLUB

Inquiry Into Enforcement of Traffic Laws to Be Conducted

The civic committee of the Optimists club, at today's luncheon in the Alley Inn, was authorized to conduct an investigation into the enforcement of the traffic ordinances and to report at the next meeting.

The action was taken after a motion introduced by Walter P. Potter, endorsing the administration of the police department had been withdrawn to permit the civic committee to investigate the entire situation before final action was taken by the club as a body.

Peter Hanson opposed the adoption of the original motion, on the grounds that such a matter should be made the subject of an investigation before official action was taken on it by the club, and in this he was supported by C. H. Hunter, Dr. H. R. Boyer, the president, after Mr. Potter's motion had been withdrawn, accepted a motion by Mr. Hanson that the matter be referred to the civic committee for investigation and report.

Mr. Potter contended that the club should take a stand for the enforcement of the laws as long as they are on the books, but as they are wrong he declared that they should be repealed.

"We throw up our hands in holy horror when a child is injured or killed by an automobile, but we 'crab' when a traffic officer arrests a speeder," declared Mr. Potter.

Health Officer Approves

Dr. G. Kaemmerling, city health officer, approved the suggestion that the chief of police should be endorsed by the law-abiding citizens of Glendale and that the police should be supported in their efforts to check violations of the speed law.

Changes in the chairmanships of several committees were announced by the president, Dr. R. H. Boyer. Dr. R. C. Logan is chairman of the Big Brother committee; Dr. R. C. Lushy heads the music committee; Peter Hanson, the civic committee; S. S. Gilhuly, the sick relief committee, and Eugene Wicks, the membership committee.

Judge Paul Burks of the superior court of Los Angeles and a candidate for re-election, was the principal speaker, and in his address he deplored the present tendency toward loose talk and the lack of straight thinking that is so manifest in the world today, with its attendant disregard of the moral, social and political obligations that lie on every citizen of the country.

Judge Burks urged the support of the members for Judge Hartley Shaw of Glendale for re-election.

Citizens' Committee Acts On Proposed Bond Issues At Gathering Last Night

the bond issue figures down to $1,795,973.

D. H. Smith, representing the Kiwanis club, presided as general secretary, with Mrs. Frank Weller, representing the Tuesday Afternoon club, officiating as secretary. The meeting was called for 7:30 p. m., but, owing to the late arrival of some of the members, it was 8 o'clock before the discussion started.

Present at Meeting

Members of the Citizens' Bond committee, together with the organizations they represent, who were present last night were:

W. H. Richards, Glendale post of American Legion; Mrs. J. M. Woolsey, Business and Professional Women's club; Roy L. Hayselden, Chamber of Commerce; J. M. Boland, Colorado Street Improvement association, alternate for R. W. Meeker; W. C. Waring, Glendale Exchange club, alternate for H. M. Bennett; Alexander Mitchell, Foothills Improvement association; J. H. Randall, Fourth Street Improvement association; R. M. Brown, Glendale Advancement association; H. M. Butts, Glendale Merchants' association; Dr. Floyd Thompson, Glendale Physicians' club; W. L. Twining, Glendale Realty board; D. H. Smith, Kiwanis club; Rev. E. E. Ford, Ministerial Union; J. J. Hoover, North Western Avenue Improvement association; Peter Hanson, Optimist club; Roy L. Keat, Rotary club; L. H. Wilson, San Fernando Improvement association; William E. Pelley, Glen Oaks Improvement association; J. Belcher, Southeast Glendale Improvement association; Mrs. Frank Weller, Tuesday Afternoon club; W. A. Hall, Verdugo Woodlands Improvement association; O. M. Newby, West Improvement association; R. Streit, West Side Improvement association; total present, 23.

Debate Is Limited

Those absent were A. R. Eastman, Glendale Clearing House association; Owen C. Emery, Glendale Bar association; Charles Marshall, Central Avenue Improvement association; Lyman P. Clark, Glendale Motor Car Dealers' association; Dr. E. H. Parker, Brand Boulevard Improvement association; Frank Hoopes, Glendale Ad club; Mrs. C. H. Whitney, Thursday Afternoon club; total absent, 7.

At the opening meeting Mr. Hanson moved that the debate be limited to members of the committee as a whole, and this motion carried. Only a few persons not members of the Citizens' Bond committee were present to hear the discussions on the various proposals.

Mr. Twining, in presenting the first report, said the city was only one-third efficient in fighting fire, due to lack of needed equipment and fire stations. Higher and also for Judge Harry R. Archbald, John L. Fleming and Arthur Keetch in the coming campaign. L. E. Olson, the secretary, was complimented by the club members on his recent promotion to the position of assistant manager of the Brand Boulevard branch of the Pacific Southwest Trust & Savings bank.

Peter Hanson, as the club's representative on the Citizens' Bond committee, urged support for those proposed bond issues that are to be regarded as vital for the advancement of Glendale.

The new buttons with the members' names were distributed at today's luncheon.

New Equipment For G. & M. Railway Line

Management of street cars on the Glendale-Montrose line from Glendale to Eagle Rock has been facilitated by the installation of two electric switches at the cost of $2400. According to P. L. Hatch, general manager, the switches are located on Glendale avenue, for cars going east on Wilson avenue, and on Glendale avenue for cars going onto Broadway. The switches are operated by the motormen from the cars and do away with the former waste of time when the motormen had to get off cars to turn switches.

insurance rates would result, he said, and the city is placed in a dangerous position in case of a serious fire. Mr. Newby moved that the committee recommend to the City Council to put a bond issue of $60,000 for this project on the ballot, and on roll call the project carried unanimously.

Segregate Items

On the matter of police and fire alarms, Mr. Belcher suggested segregating the two and voting on them separately. The bonds for fire alarm system, $63,429, was voted on first and carried unanimously. The second section, $36,294 for police alarm, showed nineteen for and four against on the roll call, those opposed being Mr. Hanson, Mr. Belcher, Mr. Newby and Mr. Streit.

In the discussion which preceded the voting on the second section, Mr. Belcher said he felt some cuts should be made, and suggested eliminating the police alarm system project. Mr. Newby concurred in Mr. Belcher's recommendation to strike it from the list. Mr. Hayselden replied to both, saying public safety was the most important factor in any city, and Glendale was fortunate in not being visited by crooks who are terrorizing Los Angeles. Mr. Streit said the boxes would be useless without more policemen.

Oppose Civic Center

The first strong opposition of the meeting sprang up when Proposition No. 4, civic center and city hall expansion, came up for vote. Mr. Smith read a letter sent by the Colorado Street Improvement association, asking that the committee favor a commercial strip on the Colorado street side. Mr. Boland offered an amendment recommending the council be asked to lease this strip, after Mr. Wilson had moved to put the $650,000 bond issue on the ballot. Later Mr. Boland withdrew his amendment after several members spoke on commercializing the civic center.

Mr. Brown then offered an amendment, in which he suggested the City Council put an alternate proposition on the ballot, the amount to be $120,000 to build additions to the present City Hall. If the $650,000 bond issue is voted down, Mr. Brown said, the city would be left in the same position it is in now, and for that reason he thought an alternate issue should be on the ballot. Mr. Twining said the bonds for repairs had been voted down once before.

Makes Explanation

Mr. Mitchell announced that the sub-committee was willing to cut down the recommendation by $50,000, and Mr. Streit wanted to know why the figure was more than $150,000 over the valuation of the property. The amount of $650,000 was set, Mr. Mitchell said, to keep outsiders away when the city bid on the property.

The vote on the amendment offered by Mr. Brown showed nineteen against it and four in favor, those voting for the amendment being, Mr. Hayselden, Mr. Brown, Mr. Belcher and Mr. Hall. The roll call on the original motion showed only one opposed, Mr. Belcher voting "no."

Mr. Newby, chairman of the sub-committee on bridges over Verdugo wash, said the city engineer estimated bridges over the wash are too far gone to be repaired and recommended two new bridges, one at Louise street and one at Pacific avenue, the bridges to be wider than those now in use, and to have sidewalks on both sides. Resurfacing three bridges will cost $750, he said. The roll call showed two opposing votes, Mr. Belcher and Mr. Streit.

For Water Supply

The proposition to put a bond issue of $550,000 on the ballot for enlarging the water system and adding reservoirs, was carried with only one dissenting vote, that being cast by Mr. Streit. Peter Diederich, superintendent of plant and production, who was present, said the normal supply would last the city three days without any further pumping. The consumption in real hot weather exceeds the amount the present mains carry, he said.

The chief opposition occurred during the discussion to put $135,000 on the ballot to buy thirty-three acres of land now known as the Glendale Airport. Mr. Streit fired the opening gun when he moved that the proposition be voted down, saying that for a number of years the city had only four acres of land, and recently acquired 12 acres of water-bearing land, which he felt would furnish enough to last for years. The tract of land mentioned in the report was offered a year ago for $66,000, and a bond issue for that amount was defeated, he said, and called attention to the fact that the present proposed issue for the same tract was for $135,000.

Make Inquiries

Mr. Twining expressed the opinion that the city had sufficient water in Verdugo canyon to care for its needs, and suggested the city develop that first. Mr. Newby said he considered the city would be paying too much money for the thirty-two acres, and suggested a committee fix the value, and then if it were thought too high, the land could be condemned. Mr. Wilson wanted to know if the city actually needed the land, and was told by Mr. Diederich that its purchase would be providing for the future. Mr. Diederich said the supply in Verdugo canyon would be reduced as population at the head of the canyon increased.

Mr. Kent told the history of the tract from the time it was offered to the city for $66,000 a year ago, to the present time. He said a group of business men took an option on the tract, and that the City Council bought it, paying 25 per cent down, the balance to be paid in one, two and three years. The question of the legality of the purchase arose. Mr. Kent said, and it was turned back to the group of men, and a bond election called, the issue being defeated.

Difference in Price

The price quoted to the committee, Mr. Kent said, is vastly different than the figure mentioned in the sub-committee's report. The figure should be $120,000 instead of $135,000, he said. When questioned as to the $60,000 advance over the price made the city a year ago, Mr. Kent said the value had increased and would continue to increase. He said the city would be satisfied if the city did not buy it, as he could get more for it from private concerns.

The roll call showed the vote on Mr. Streit's motion to vote down the proposition to be five in favor of the motion, seventeen against, and one not voting. Those favoring the motion were: Mr. Waring, Mr. Twining, Mr. Hanson, Mr. Belcher and Mr. Streit. Mr. Kent did not vote. The roll call on Mr. Newby's motion to put it on the ballot showed eighteen in favor, four against and one not voting. Those opposed were: Mr. Waring, Mr. Twining, Mr. Belcher and Mr. Streit. Mr. Kent did not vote.

Against Auxiliary Plant

The report of the sub-committee on an auxiliary power plant for Glendale, recommending that no bond issue be put on the ballot at the present time, was accepted, the vote being unanimous.

The two amounts for city parks, $122,500 for 25 acres in Rossmore, and $35,000 for a park in the south part of the city, were voted upon separately, the first carrying with only two dissenting votes, Mr. Belcher and Mr. Streit. The second carried without a dissenting vote. There was no discussion on the second section of the project, but a question was raised on the first section when Mr. Hanson said he had been offered the land at $2,500 an acre, whereas the price to the city was $3,500. Mr. Wilson said the figure mentioned in the report came direct from the owners and was the lowest price, and that the offer of $2,500 an acre did not include all the tract, the report set forth.

Garbage Disposal

There was no discussion on the report of the sub-committee on a modern garbage disposal plant for Glendale, Mr. Hanson moving that the council be asked to put the $50,000 fixed by the sub-committee on the ballot. The roll call showed only one dissenting vote, cast by Mr. Belcher.

The report of the sub-committee on founding a municipal hospital, which was recommended none at the present time, was accepted by the committee as a whole on a unanimous vote, following a motion to accept by Mr. Twining. The recommendations of the Citizens' Bond committee will be given to the City Council at the next meeting of the council on Tuesday morning, it was decided last night. The matter of another meeting of the Citizens' Bond committee rests with the City Council, it was said, since the committee has completed its work, and it is up to the council to discharge them.

HEAR REPORTS OF CLUB COMMITTEES

Work of Kiwanis For Past Six Months Related at Meeting Today

The reports of committees covering the work of the past six months, featured the meeting of the Glendale Kiwanis club held today noon at the Tuesday Afternoon club. President A. L. Baird presided at the session, and William Brown, former district governor, told of the impressions he received at the international convention at Denver, and outlined future policies of the organization.

Reports were given by Ed Radke, chairman of the committee on underprivileged children; Harry MacBain, chairman of the house committee; Max Green, of the attendance committee; Bert Woodard, of the committee on rules; E. P. Hayward, of the committee on public affairs; C. J. Hatz, of the committee on business standards; Merrill Davis, publicity committee; and W. L. L. Truitt, of the program committee.

Merrill Davis reported the club had received 6340 inches of publicity in local papers in the last six months. Mr. Hayward suggested that the club take steps to secure the Southern Branch of the University of California for Glendale.

The attendance prize, donated by Dr. Conkling, was won by Eugene Gordon. P. J. Hayselden told of the work of the fire protection committee. President Baird appointed Dr. F. R. Gartley to assist a committee in making a survey of the boys' situation in Glendale for the Y. M. C. A., after Rex Kelley spoke on the plan. E. P. Hayward, assisted by Spencer Robinson's famous cane, led the singing.

Incendiarities Blamed For Water Front Fire

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 1.—Police and fire officials today were investigating a fire, believed to be incendiary, which late last night damaged the Westgate Sea Food Products company along the waterfront to the extent of $125,000.

The night watchman reported that at 9:30 p. m. he made his usual rounds of the plant and shortly afterwards discovered the fire burning in two places in the machine room of the cannery, which adjoins the main plant.

Los Angeles Halts To See Movie Parade

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1.—Los Angeles halted this morning for two hours to pay its respects to the motion picture industry.

Insuring what they please to call "Greater Movie Season" the showmen of the city called upon all of the studios to aid in reviving interest in the picture plays.

Practically all of the stars and starlets who were in town appeared in the parade as well as many whose names do not flash on the flickered lights.

Everything from a little girl's drum corps to the jazz bands from the dance palaces were used to give music to the occasion. The floats ranged from the spectacular to limousines filled with movie queens. One queen of the sea appeared in a one-piece bathing suit that elicited many a sigh along Spring street.

One of the outstanding features was a mammoth skeleton of some prehistoric animal on which "Bull" Montana was perched with tiny Edwin Hubbell.

While the parade was passing all street car service and traffic was tied up completely and the balance of the day will be spent in straightening out the tangles.

FIVE ACRE TRACT IS GIFT TO CITY

Grove of Stately Trees On Park to Be Presented By Realty Firm

BURBANK, Aug. 1.—The park commission and officials of the Taft Realty company have practically completed negotiations by which a five-acre tract on Burbank boulevard, containing a beautiful eucalyptus grove, will be offered to the City Trustees as a gift to the city.

In the original plans of laying out their subdivision the Taft company found that most of these trees would have to be taken out. Disliking to destroy such a nice grove, it occurred to them that it might make a pretty park. It was found that by a slight change in the street plans in that locality the park could be preserved and continue as a public beauty spot. The matter of the proposed changes in the streets was taken up with the city park commission, and it is reported that an understanding has been reached which will be contained in recommendations to the board of trustees to be presented in the near future, which will advise the board to accept the proffered gift.

Street Progress
The old familiar streets of Burbank are rapidly falling to the march of progress. The latest street to meet this kind of fate is Pioneer avenue. Henceforth this street is to be known as "Hollywood way."

This comes as a result of a resolution passed by the City Trustees at their last meeting, basis for the action being a petition signed by a goodly number of the property owners living on that and a few other streets which are included in the proposal.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dunlap of Olive avenue planned to leave this afternoon for Feather River inn to spend a two weeks' vacation.

A lace curtain 150 feet long and fifty feet wide has been made in one piece at a famous mill in England.

Sanitarium System of Diet Aids Conservation of Health, Says Doctor

By G. IRWIN ROYCE, M.D.
Written for The Glendale Evening News.

Never in the world's history has there been such an individual reaching out after information pertaining to true methods of living, in order to conserve health and prolong life, as today.

The diet question necessarily plays a very prominent part in the curriculum of our daily needs, associated more or less with our business, also, as our condition of health augurs much as to our success or failure.

As a natural result of this research for knowledge on this important subject, various fads and fancies have developed. "New thought," ideas and mental suggestion have been promulgated by hare-brained and fanatical individuals, and, in a measure, these fads have taken the place of sound reasoning, and scientific demonstration.

Principles of Living
It has been through the influence of the properly conducted Sanitarium, very largely, that correct principles of living have been brought before the public, and they have, by the true methods of cure, been of inestimable value to the world. They have demonstrated conclusively that a proper diet in combination with nature's own methods can not only cure diseases but also one in ill health can be restored to perfect health again, and these same methods employed by those having good health will enable them to retain a normal equilibrium.

Typical of this doctrine we have the Battle Creek Sanitarium, the mother institution of them all, and which, perhaps, came nearer establishing the true method of cure than any other institution of the kind in the United States.

Sanitarium's Growth
The writer was living in Battle Creek when the Sanitarium was a cluster of cottages, with the so-called main building but an added-to private residence, and the Sanitarium as a whole, only able to accommodate about seventy-five patients at its capacity. But through the Seventh Day Adventists' denomination, who were the founders of this mother Sanitarium, it not only developed and grew to a most astounding degree, but also from it grew and expanded branches in all parts of the earth; the largest of these, we understand, is now in Skodsborg, Denmark.

There are in all about forty of these branches throughout the world, all controlled through the local board of directors appointed by the officials of the General Conference of the denomination.

On the coast we have the St. Helena, Loma Linda, Paradise Valley (near San Diego) and the Glendale Sanitarium.

From about 1875 the Battle Creek Sanitarium was under the management of Dr. J. H. Kellogg as Medical Superintendent, who was, no doubt, largely responsible for its wonderful progress, but for some unknown reason, best known to the former owners, Dr. Kellogg, the mother institution was divorced from the denomination and given over to Dr. Kellogg. However, all of the outside branches are still in possession of the denomination.

Judge H. H. Breidt Is Head of Tujunga C.C.

TUJUNGA, Aug. 1.—Judge Herman H. Breidt is again president of the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce as a result of the resignation of L. H. Fisher, which was accepted at a board of directors' meeting. Friction among the members in carrying out certain policies caused Mr. Fisher to make the withdrawal, he said.

Third Woman Realtor Is Admitted to Board

TUJUNGA, Aug. 1.—Mrs. Bertha Morgan was admitted to membership in the Tujunga Valley Realty board at a meeting at which the members went on record as opposed to the present realtor's bond as excessive. The legislative committee was instructed to take action on the matter of having a reduction made, if possible. Mrs. Morgan is the third woman member to be admitted as a licensed realtor in the last two weeks.

Anthrax Plague Bars Livestock Shipments

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Aug. 1.—Live stock from Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas will not be admitted to Oklahoma because of anthrax, according to an order issued by J. A. Whitehurst, president of the state board of agriculture. The order is effective at once.

Files Claim to Title For Underwater Swim

REDLANDS, Aug. 1.—Jesse Cook of this city claims the underwater swimming championship of Southern California, having made 235 feet on several occasions without showing on the surface of the local plunge.

session of the denomination, and managed wholly by them.

Had it not been for the Sanitarium, Battle Creek, Mich., would have scarcely been on the map, other than being a modest little city on a par with Ypsilanti or Jackson. As it is, there is no better known city, large or small, in the United States than Battle Creek, Mich., and always associated with the name Sanitarium.

The old "boom times" hotel on Broadway, recently vacated, was purchased in 1904 and continued until 1915 with rather indifferent success. In fact, during that year had suffered a deficiency in its financial experience, when C. E. Kimlin was placed with the institution in a managerial capacity, and from 1915 there has been a steady and profitable growth of the institution.

They outgrew their location, and about two years ago purchased the ground for the present site, and principally through the influence of Mr. Kimlin and Dr. Westphal, with their large vision for the future of the institution, there has been erected a modern building at a cost of about $900,000, outfitted with every convenience for the treatment of chronic cases.

Their surgical equipment is thoroughly up-to-date, and the success of many major operations attest the skill of their operators.

Ideal Location
The location for the sanitarium, on an eminence above the city, is ideal. In the foreground the vision carries over the city of Glendale and reaching even to the suburbs of Los Angeles.

The grand old, dense-folaged live oaks afford abundant shade and add much to the beauty of the surroundings. There are 30 acres in the tract belonging to the institution.

With their strictly modern facilities, in addition to the ideal climate, there is no reason why this unit should not rival the Battle Creek Sanitarium; and, with a far-reaching vision, we believe that, should the right methods be employed to acquaint those who can be successfully treated at the Glendale Sanitarium, with its wonderful advantages, very soon additional structures will be necessary to care for the hundreds of those who will want to avail themselves of this true method of regaining their shattered health.

Brings Many Here
Even now, the beautiful city of Glendale, as a fast growing suburb of Los Angeles, has been placed on the map, but, with the ideal Sanitarium located here, it should give an added lustre and become, in the near future, the mecca for invalids from the four corners of the globe.

The co-operation of every citizen of the city is needed to bring about this desired object of making the city famous, largely and through the influence of this model institution.
